TOURISTS AT STATE LINE FREED BY ARIZONA

Must Undergo Fumigation Process Before They Continue Eastward

YUMA, Ariz., April 19.—The first automobile load of the more than 800 tourists en route to various eastern points held up at the state line here because of the hoof and mouth disease blockade laid down closing roads leading into Arizona, was to pass over the Colorado river into this state shortly after noon today after a thorough fumigation, according to an announcement made by Dr. Edward L. Stam, state quarantine officer here.

The tourists are camped fourteen miles out on the desert from here and immediately started into Yuma when it was learned that Governor Hunt of Arizona had issued a provision allowing the autoists to cross the state line, provided they underwent the fumigation process.

Large Bath House

Four or five machines will be handled at one time during the fumigation, Dr. Stam said, and it is expected the work will take approximately eleven hours to pass all the automobiles. A large bath house has been constructed, with separate compartments for men and women and a fumigating plant also has been erected to disinfect clothing worn by the tourists. All cars will be sprayed, both inside and out, with disinfectants before being passed.

"There would have been no trouble at the state line here had it not been for the county attorney and sheriff of Imperial county," Dr. Stam declared. "They talked with the tourists, led them to the bridge over the Colorado and advised them to defy the Arizona guards in a break of the chains and a dash across the bridge.

No Privation, Claim

"All the tourists are being well cared for, the people of Yuma having sent out supplies to the travelers and those who were ill have been removed to the hospital. There is no privation among the tourists."

According to the relief provision granted by Governor Hunt, after the crowd of autoists now here are passed, the ban will be tightened again and no travelers will be allowed to cross the state line leading into Arizona.

"Persons intending to come into Arizona by automobile should take warning at this," Dr. Stam said.

British Flyer Starts Cairo-Turkey Dash

CAIRO, April 19.—Flight commander A. Stuart MacLaren of the British Royal Air force, who is attempting a round-the-world flight, hopped off at 6 o'clock this morning for Turkey. He was expected to make stops at Giza and Palestine. This leg of the flight will take him all the way across Turkey.

Stranded Tourists Heading North to Escape Quarantine

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—After being stalled in Needles for several days because of the Arizona hoof-and-mouth disease blockade of roads leading into that state from California, 200 automobile loads of tourists were today taking a northward course along the west bank of the Colorado river, heading toward the Arrowhead trail, which they will take eastward to Denver, according to word received here from Needles. About one hundred other automobiles, headed for various points in Arizona, are still camped at Needles, the report stated.

The California state department of agriculture, with offices in Los Angeles, announced today that the Arizona embargo on California oranges, lemons and onions had been partially lifted, provided the products are thoroughly fumigated after they are placed in railroad cars for shipment.

Chance's Career As Sox' Manager Ended by Illness

CHICAGO, April 19.—Frank Chance will return to California immediately on advice of his physicians, and there is every probability that he never will take active charge of the Chicago White Sox, it was stated here today, following announcement by Dr. Phillip Kreutscher, at Mercy hospital, that Chance's health is not improving.

Johnny Evers, former second baseman for the old Cubs, later for the Boston Braves and more recently manager of the Cubs and assistant manager for the Giants, conditioned the Sox in Florida as Chance's lieutenant and it was believed he would be appointed manager to succeed Chance.

A statement from the White Sox was expected this afternoon.

PRAISES OF REDEEMER PLANNED

Services to Commemorate Resurrection In All of City's Churches

With glorious California weather prevailing Easter day, 1924, Glendale will be filled with many services commemorating the resurrection.

As the sun rises over the eastern horizon at 5:14 o'clock Easter Sunday will be ushered in with singing and praise on Mount Forest Lawn. There over 10,000 people will be gathered for the first service of the day.

Special Services

Following this service there will be early services in the Holy Family Catholic and St. Mark's Episcopal churches and then later in the morning special Easter programs in the various Sunday schools followed by the regular hours of worship featured by Easter sermons and Easter music. At the Congregational church Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, will attend the morning service.

The spirit of Easter will be sustained throughout the afternoon by a 4:30 o'clock vesper service at the Central Christian church, where the choir will present an Easter cantata. All church people in Glendale are invited to join in this late afternoon gathering.

Varied Programs

In the evening regular services will be held in the churches, the young people's meeting first and later the regular church gatherings will take place. At these church meetings at night there is offered a variety of interest. In one church there will be special Easter music accompanying the showing of a sacred motion picture. In other churches there will be special Easter musical programs, while in others Easter sermons will close the day.

The complete programs for the various church services appear on page 16 of today's Glendale Evening News.

Announcement was made this morning that the services that had been planned for Mount McGroarty had been cancelled because of the quarantine regulations in connection with the foot and mouth disease.

Fear Kidnaper May Return to Kill Wife

SEATTLE, April 19.—Local police today admitted the possibility that George Carr, alias Frank Clay Stanton, might have gone north to Vancouver, B. C., with 21-year-old Rose Fahey, kidnaped at the point of a gun here Tuesday night.

Police today continued to guard the home of Mrs. Eva Carr, his wife, fearing he might return and kill or kidnap her as he did her sister.

Widening Of West Broadway Favored By Planning Board

The members of the City Planning Commission, T. W. Watson, P. J. Hayselden, S. E. Kinch, J. H. Randall and Harry Hague, after hearing the report of the committee appointed to obtain signatures to a petition requesting the widening of West Broadway from Pacific avenue to San Fernando road, last night unanimously decided to recommend to the City Council that this thoroughfare be widened its entire length, from Central avenue to San Fernando road.

The committee, consisting of O. M. Newby, W. C. Alvord and R. C. Racine had been asked to report their progress at last night's meeting. Mr. Newby, speaking for the committee, stated that the sentiment of the property owners who actually resided on the street was overwhelmingly in favor of the widening, but that in the limited time in which they had to work, they had not been able to get in touch with many of the out-of-town owners.

Petition on File

A petition was filed some time ago with A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, asking that West Broadway be widened from Central to Pacific avenue. The council deferred action until the city planning commission had been appointed, which was then under contemplation. The members of the commission wanted the entire length of the street widened if possible, and requested Mr. Newby and others to ascertain the opinion of owners between Pacific and San Fernando road so that all the work could be done at once. There were many of tthe property owners between Central and Pacific who were averse to widening in case it were not carried out to San Fernando Road.

As the council is known to be semi-officially committed to a policy of widening all streets when the property owners desire it, without doubt they will accept the recommendation of the commissioners and order the city attorney to start the necessary proceedings at once. The matter will be set for hearing and if no protestants appear, or if they appear and all protests are denied, the work will start as soon as possible.

Mr. Newby stated this morning that the contemplated improvement called for a 96-foot street, with a 14-foot sidewalk on each side, leaving a distance between curbs of 68 feet. He also said the width would be uniform throughout the entire length of the street.

This will make West Broadway, said Mr. Newby, the main artery from the Glendale business center to San Fernando valley points, one of the finest streets of the city, and will take care of the rapidly increasing volume of traffic which it carries every day.

VICTIMS ROBBED OF GEMS, MONEY

Jewels Valued at $31,000 Taken by Bandits In Morning Holdup

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—The victims of two young and well-dressed bandits who are believed to have been aware of the fact that they carried costly gems, William M. Armstrong and Mrs. C. S. Johnson were held up and robbed in South Plymouth boulevard of $31,000 in jewels and $335 in cash early today, according to police reports.

The holdup occurred as the car in which Mrs. Johnson and Armstrong arrived at Armstrong's home. The bandits are declared to have parked their machine across the street and sprung from behind a patch of shrubbery, commanding the pair to hold up their hands and hand over their valuables. After the robbery the bandits apologized for having inconvenienced their victims and escaped in their automobile, the police reports stated.

MAY DEPORT ALIEN DOPE ADDICTS

Conviction on Narcotic or Liquor Charges to Bar Guilty From U. S.

By A. O. HAYWARD
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—On the heels of the most drastic restriction of immigration ever attempted in this country, the House judiciary committee prepared to report favorably today a bill that will provide for the deportation of aliens convicted of violating the narcotic and prohibition laws.

The deportation would not take place until after such aliens served prison terms for their convictions. Immediately upon their release from prison the aliens would be taken into custody by immigration officials and sent back to the country from which they came to the United States.

Sure of Deportation

The committee in drafting the law has endeavored to make sure that the alien to be deported shall be denied the protection of other laws which are now invoked to delay or defeat deportation orders by the secretary of labor.

The new bill to get rid of undesirable aliens is supplemental to the restrictive and selective legislation which passed the Senate last night. The bill has already passed the House. Its purpose is to limit the number of immigrants coming to this country and to select those who may come.

Increase Border Patrol

Another move to insure the better class of new arrivals in the United States was taken by the House when it increased by $1,200,000 the appropriation for next fiscal year for the patrol of the Mexican and Canadian borders.

Immigration Commissioner Husband reported to the House immigration committee that fully five times the number of lawfully admissable aliens were entering surreptitiously across the two borders. These included Japanese, Chinese, Mexicans and Europeans.

COOLIDGE NOT TO OPPOSE MEASURE, BELIEF

Enough Vote to Pass It In Face of Veto, Is Claim of Leader

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The death knell of the cash bonus plan for soldiers and a victory for the insurance plan was believed to have been sounded in the Senate this afternoon during a warm debate as to whether President Coolidge would approve or veto the insurance plan.

Senator Watson of Indiana, who usually speaks for the administration, declared under prodding by Democratic leaders: "I have not the slightest idea what the president's notions are, but I do know a number of Republican senators have told him if he vetoes a cash bonus they would vote to sustain him, but that if he vetoed the insurance bill they would pass the bill over his veto. And we have the votes to do the business."

Want President to Give Views on Bonus

WASHINGTON, April 19.—President Coolidge was called upon this afternoon by Democratic leaders in the Senate to clear up some of the uncertainty surrounding his attitude toward a soldier bonus.

Despite the president's announced opposition to the bonus, persistent reports have been circulated that he would not veto the paid-up insurance bonus plan now pending in the Senate. It was upon this point that Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, demanded information.

"There is no need of us passing a bill that will be vetoed," Robinson said. "Let the president speak out."

Attention
Anonymous Letter Writer!

There are a number of things in your letter with which I heartily agree. Why not come in and talk with me? Good can only come from a free, frank and open discussion of all civic affairs.

Mr. Ogden's expenses are paid by a few of the business men themselves and not from the advertising fund. A large number of us are grateful for our success in Glendale and are willing to pay a small part of it for the keeping of a prosperous condition.

Perhaps you are right and the city needs the benefit of your suggestions. Do your duty to your city and come out in the open and work.

Woman's Oldest Drudgery Reduced To A Science
Washing clothes, as done in the household, is and always has been woman's most tiresome, back-breaking drudgery.
Yet modern science has taken each washing operation and found a way to do it in an easy, sanitary and more perfect way than it could ever be done at home.
One scientific operation softens the water.
Another washes the clothes by gentle movement and immersion in mild suds.
Another scientifically extracts the water with centrifugal force.
Another dries them better than sunshine.
Another scientifically "presses" them. More perfect work and easier on the clothes than ironing.
Take advantage of Science's accomplishments — Send your wash to the Laundry.

They did. They didn't stay long, however. When they had departed, Mrs. Gresley discovered that $3000 worth of jewelry had departed also. She overcame her fears of publicity, came to the detective bureau and made a report of her loss.

That's All

Easter Flowers Beautiful
Spring's Here! Clean Up!

By Gil A. Cowan

Indeed, it must be difficult for authorities to keep their mental balance while dealing with the foot and mouth disease, so strange is the malady and so rapid does it spread. Yet there is every need for stamping out hysteria such as is seen at the Arizona border, for such is worse than rabies. Governor Hunt and other officials who sponsor the retaliatory measures toward California are not acting in a sane or just manner.

Think of a man elected head of one of these commonwealths—a man presumably honored by appointment as minister to Siam—sitting in the state house at Phoenix and stopping tourists en route east to suffer on the desert for days. He is not only ridiculous, but he is a man anyone would be honestly justified in removing from office.

Scandal again shakes the foundation of Los Angeles community. Rich people are robbed, film actress fights blackmail, champion fighter's manager goes to jail, former policeman kills self while planning to do away with officials, and so on. "Read it and weep," as the old editor says.

Down in the corner of the page there is something about reparations, but the United States has just about as much chance of getting anything out of the outfit "over there" as the story concerning same has a chance of getting headline publicity. This good will and brotherhood stuff is all right when other issues are not too prominent, one would learn by studying the league of nations or any other association.

Easter flowers in abundance are to be seen. Services locally will attract many thousands of people since it has been announced the Rubidoux shrine will not be used. Incidentally, be careful where you go over Sunday. All mountain roads are closed. The highways to the beaches and the city are open, however.

Everybody in Southern California should take a personal, and when practicable, a working interest in the general spring clean-up campaign and help to give to the cities and their entrances a beauty that can only be attained through cleanliness and nature.

Health demands cleanliness. Material prosperity demands cleanliness. Morality and intellectuality demand cleanliness. There is no better way to attain both cleanliness and beauty than to clean up the yards, the streets, and then plant shrubbery, trees and flowers.

In a hurried trip through Orange county, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, one notices especially long stretches of highway girded on both sides by beautiful trees. The air is filled with the fragrance of flowers, of green stuff. There is a feeling of purity, of cleanliness.

The entrance to Riverside gives one a sense of grandeur. Its tall, wide, spreading trees and its rows of flower beds make one like Riverside. Cleanliness brings its return in dollars and cents. People like to live in beauty spots.

It is a magnificent argument why Southern California should be made clean and why every effort should be made to beautify the homes, the lawns and the highways.

PLANS JAZZLESS COLLEGE, RESORT

Evangelist Buys Ozark Town To Launch University On Novel Lines

He bought a town so that he could build a "jazzless" university.

That is what John E. Brown, Arkansas evangelist, who is well known to the people of Glendale, did a few weeks ago. He purchased practically the entire city of Sulphur Springs, in the northwest corner of the Arkansas Ozarks, and he proposes to build there the John Brown university, to open its doors next September.

Not merely "jazz" dancing, but "jazz" dressing, "jazz" literature, "jazz" music, and the whole field of modern "jazz" living, are to be barred absolutely from this university which John Brown is founding at the little Ozark mountain city. The most amazing thing of all that John Brown proposes to do at Sulphur Springs, though, is to establish there a summer resort at which the same high ideals will be maintained that he intends to have in his university.

Lays Down Rules

"No dancing, no card playing, no Sabbath desecration, no drinking, no roughneckism of any sort will be tolerated in Sulphur Springs from now on. We want to show people the wonders of God's great out-of-doors, teaching them to look up, breathe up, and climb up," says the evangelist.

Certain cardinal principles of living have always been the controlling factors in the life of John E. Brown. First of all, he believes with all his heart in old-fashioned religion, and does not show much sympathy for the newer type of theology which, he claims, substitutes entertainment for God, and he doesn't have much use for "modern" amusements.

He believes that work is good for boys and girls. In his new school, every student will do two hours of industrial labor each day, learning some useful occupation, in addition to the regular standard scholastic work which all will carry.

College Is Success

The school at Sulphur Springs is not the first in which John Brown has tried out his principles. The John E. Brown college at Siloam Springs, his old home town, has already gained a nation-wide reputation is the only "wholly pay by work" school in America, and is now rounding out its fifth year of successful operation.

When John Brown started the "wholly pay by work" school at Siloam Springs, many persons scoffed, and said that the venture was bound to end in failure. But today the school is progressing as never before. It had 3000 applications for admission last year, and was able to care for 300 of the most worthy of those applying. It has assets now valued at $400,000, where five years ago its total property, practically all the gift of "Brother" Brown, was worth less than $60,000, and it has today the recognition of the leading school men and financiers of America as a shining success.

Big Undertaking

In spite of this general belief in his probable success, Evangelist Brown realizes that he has a genuinely big undertaking before him.

Buying an ordinary resort city outright, turning it almost overnight into a community whose morals are "as straight as a string," and erecting there a national university which is almost unique in prohibiting the things which most persons seemingly take for granted in modern life, is a job which no one but a man of John E. Brown's caliber would have the temerity to undertake.

He Is Risen

There are men and women who claim to believe that Jesus Christ was not divine and did not profess to be divine; that his miraculous birth and the story of the wise men is a legend; that his sorrowing disciples, after his crucifixion, merely consoled themselves with the fiction that he had risen from the dead; that there are additions to the four gospels beyond a trustworthy account of the personality and words of the man, Jesus. Everything in the scriptures they do not wish to believe is "accretionary matter."

If we do not believe all that Matthew, Mark, Luke and John wrote, why believe any? Why believe that Jesus Christ existed at all?

Who are these skeptics that they should rob us of the happiest festival of the year? If they are right, the celebration of Easter is a mockery. If Christ never rose from the dead, where is the hope of the world? Rob Christian nations of Easter and there is nothing left. The resurrection is the very foundation of Christianity. No other festival of the year can possibly mean so much to us.

In the spring there is a resurrection in nature. The trees, the grass, the flowers are springing to new life and preparing us for the celebration of the true resurrection. It is unthinkable that nature should spring to life again and man be doomed to eternal death. And then comes the resurrection morn itself that seems the fulfillment of the hope of the world.

Easter could not bring such joy to millions if it were a mock festival. The Easter theme, "He is risen," could not so thrill us each recurring Easter morning if it were false. The multitudes, on Easter morning, do not need to go to the four gospels where there is abundant proof of the resurrection but their own hearts echo the response, "He is risen indeed."

Immortality of the soul is an almost universal belief. And where do the people find the justification for this hope but in the risen Christ?

Millions of devout souls this Easter morning will greet the rising sun as an emblem of the resurrection and with hosannas testify to the resurrection truth. "Christ is risen" is the theme that is bringing hope and peace and joy to millions at this season of the year.

BIBLE LECTURER SHOWS PROPHECY OF EASTER TIME

History of Present Feast Is Traced from Earliest Day in Club Talk

The spirit of Easter has been most beautifully and clearly brought to Tuesday Afternoon club members and friends by Miss Winifred Rouzee, Bible student and lecturer, instructor of the club's Bible department of which Mrs. Charles H. Temple is curator.

Miss Rouzee's pre-Easter lectures have been on the subject "Easter As Prophesied in 1500 B. C." most fitting to the season of re-awakening, when all Christendom celebrates that great awakening, The Resurrection, and dealing with sacred truths expounded when the Jewish Feast of the Passover, the seven days set aside to observe the exodus, the celebration of which began yesterday after sundown.

The following is a sketch of Miss Rouzee's lecture on Tuesday, reported by Mrs. Vernell Rapp, secretary of the Bible department:

Reveals Prophecies

"Opening the lecture with an invocation Miss Rouzee voiced the blessings of rain and sunshine and renewed life of hills and vale, and then forcefully presented God's prophetic program, the seven Levitical feasts, that of Passover, unleavened bread, first fruits, pentecost, trumpets, atonement tabernacles. Seven numbers on the program, beginning with the cross and extending through the kingdom rein of Christ, introducing a time element concerning the crucifixion of Christ and his resurrection.

TEMPLARS' DRILL TEAM GAINS CUP IN COMPETITION

Silver Trophy Is Awarded to Glendale Commandery For Fine Showing

Glendale's Knights Templar baby, a six-weeks-old drill team, buckled on its courage over in Pasadena yesterday at the Grand Commandery gathering, and made such a splendid showing in the competitive drills of nine commanderies that it brought home a beautiful silver cup.

According to Dr. Roy V. Hogue, past commander of Glendale commandery, there were nine teams in the contest, with Oakland commandery No. 11 winning the perpetual cup, Golden Gate commandery No. 16 of San Francisco taking second place and each of the other teams winning a silver cup.

Splendid Showing

The showing made by the Glendale team of twenty-eight Knights was most significant, marking, as it did, the beginning of drill work for the Glendale commandery, and because of the short time the team has been organized.

Added interest lies in the facts that on Thursday there was doubt among Glendale Knights as to the use of entering with older and better trained teams, and that because of the illness of the regular drill captain a leader had to be chosen from the ranks.

This leader, chosen on the spur of the moment, was Owen C. Emery, who displayed his capability as a leader in directing the team through most successful work.

Wippert Residence Damaged by Flames

Fire of unknown origin yesterday afternoon damaged the residencee of C. Wippert, 1150 North Pacific avenue, to the extent of $100. The fire, starting on the first floor, worked its way to the roof. The blaze was quickly extinguished upon the arrival of the fire department.

An automobile belonging to Mr. Chasel caught fire at a back fire in the carburetor. The damage was nominal.

NOT IN FAVOR OF CLUB DUES RAISE

Mrs. W. E. Evans Gives Out Statement In Regard to Unfounded Report

Mrs. W. E. Evans, one of the candidates for the presidency of the Tuesday Afternoon club, has issued the following statement:

"A report has been current that if I should be elected president of the Tuesday Afternoon club that I would raise the dues to $25 per year.

"This is absolutely untrue and unfounded.

"I am not in favor of raising the dues or in any other way making the financial burden any heavier than it has of necessity been the last two years.

"MRS. W. E. EVANS."

STAR TO APPEAR IN PERSON HERE

Miss Calhoun, Featured In Sea Romance, to Be at Glendale Theater

Giving the Glendale theatre-going public an extra treat for Easter Sunday, Manager William Howe of the Glendale theatre has prepared an exceptional program. Alice Calhoun and J. Warren Kerrigan are presented in a gripping romance of India seas, "The Man From Brodney's," from the famous novel by George Barr McCutcheon. To add a personal touch to the feature picture, Miss Alice Calhoun as a personal favor to Mr. Howe and her many screen admirers, will direct traffic in the foyer throughout the evening.

Rita Cummings, the child contralto and miniature toe dancer, who has been drawing crowds at Grauman's for the past five weeks, is presented in a clever act. Of local interest is the fact that she is under the direction of Harry Girard, who, together with Paul Carson, give a duo accompaniment to the act.

The laughing side of the program is well taken care of by Aesop's Fables and Clyde Cook in "The Cyclist." The latest news reel rounds out the bill. As is the usual custom only one Sunday evening performance will be given.

People have been able to read from the light of one blazing oil well in Mexico when nearly eighteen miles from the flame.

Mrs. Toll Praises Evening News for Aid at Convention

In a note from Berkeley Mrs. Charles O. Toll, president of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, voices sincere appreciation for the part The Glendale Evening News had in the success of the recent district convention in Glendale.

"This note is to voice my deepest appreciation," writes Mrs. Toll, "for I am so greatly indebted to The Glendale Evening News for all you did to make our convention a success that I am unable to express it."

"I am here for a rest of about a week," she adds, "I must make ready for the other two much larger conventions and am finding it restful and delightful."

Why I Came To Glendale

One of the main things which attracted me to Glendale was its wonderful, wide main street and boulevard lamps which not many cities many times its size can boast of. From the very first time we drove through Glendale I had a strong desire to live here, not that we had any friends or relatives here, which isn't necessary to make you feel at home in Glendale. We toured around considerably up as far as Santa Barbara and finally came back to Glendale to live. After living here six months we went back east for over a year and now have come back to stay. While east we never forgot to praise Glendale, which helps to advertise. In that way we know we have helped to increase the population of Glendale.

HEREDITY OF IMMIGRANTS

Students of genetics and eugenics are now suggesting that these sciences be employed by the United States in making selections of immigrants. If we are going to continue to admit people from the old world to our shores and citizenship some method should be adopted to protect us from the riff-raff that fills our jails, alsmhouses and insane asylums. Statistics are not at hand as to the per cent of our criminals and dependents who are immigrants or children of foreign-born parents, but it is large.

The Saturday Evening Post reprints from the Congressional Record a list of eighty-one Massachusetts organizations who have written to Congressman opposing the Johnson bill restricting immigration. "Polish Citizens' Club," "Associated Jewish organizations," "Sons of Italy," are typical titles of these organizations. They represent foreign-born people, although, no doubt, they are good American citizens and voters. The Post intimates that Congressmen can understand votes in any language.

We have been greatly concerned about insect pests and plant diseases that may find their way here from foreign countries while we have admitted the most inferior and degenerate specimens of the human race. The foot and mouth disease, said to have been brought from abroad, terrible as it is, cannot compare in disastrous results with the work of one anarchistic immigrant who is trying to undermine our national institutions and overthrow our government.

Heretofore the science of genetics has been more especially applied to domestic animals and plant breeding, and it is well known that experiments in this respect have resulted in greatly improved varieties of plants and breeds of stock.

While no one has yet formulated a workable plan for the eugenic improvement of the race, yet a provision by Congress that immigrants be not only free from disease and of good intelligence but also be able to show a sound heredity should not be asking too much.

Information has been placed before the committees of Congress concerned with the immigration question to show them that eugenic methods in selecting immigrants will not only eventually improve our own race and make for national safety but also aid in maintaining friendly relations with the nations from which our immigrants come.

Prof Willet M. Hays, founder of the American Genetic association and the Journal of Heredity, who has done much to improve field crops through plant breeding, is one of the leaders of this movement.

WATCH OUT FOR YOUR CAR!

Now is a good time to keep a sharp eye on your automobile, with the spring exodus of crooks about to start. Unfortunately, the wonderful winter climate of Southern California brings a certain number of the light-fingered gentry, as well as the hundreds of thousands of tourists who annually sojourn here while the east is snow-gripped.

No thief likes to walk if he can ride—and he prefers a good auto to a freight car. The Automobile Club of Southern California maintains a bureau for the recovery of stolen cars that is very efficient, recovery being made on 956 of the 1483 automobiles stolen in Southern California during the first three months of 1924. But that is scant comfort for the other 527 motorists who are still minus their cars.

Car owners should cooperate with the authorities in making it just as difficult as possible for auto thieves to ply their trade. The ordinary ignition lock is not sufficient. At least one additional lock should be employed. There are many types on the market, ranging from gear shift locks, carburetor and gas line traps to theft signals for the wheels. A visit to an automobile supply company should be made at once by every motorist who feels he is not secure against the wiles of the car thief.

PICKING THE WINNERS

Glendale finds herself in the position of a hostess with a new home, attractive furniture, and well laid out grounds, who desires to keep open house and bid her old and new friends welcome. We are rather proud of the things we have to show. We want others to see them and enjoy them. Otherwise the home would not have been so large, perhaps, or the furniture so expensive, or the grounds so carefully planned.

Glendale recognizes—or should recognize—the fact that easterners who come here are progressive, wide-awake, well schooled in sizing up advantages and disadvantages. If they come to Southern California they are seeking to place a bet on a sure winner, not a fifty-to-one shot. If we first attract them through our advertising; follow this up by a cordial welcome; and complete the program by personally conducted tours that will demonstrate our resources, the verdict should be in our favor. But if one link in the chain be weak, some other city may win their approval. As a good hostess we must put on a sincere smile, extend our most hearty handclasp, and show them through our house and grounds.

It is well to remember that even the ocean is made up of little things—drops of water. Liberal and consistent advertising will bring a constant stream of newcomers to Glendale. Eventually, in a comparative way, our "ocean" will expand. In the years to come it will assume the proportions of a mighty body of water. Every resident is one unit—one drop of water, as it were. The tide is coming in and the right kind of cooperation and publicity will bring the breakers' roar. Why not ride on the crest of the big wave!

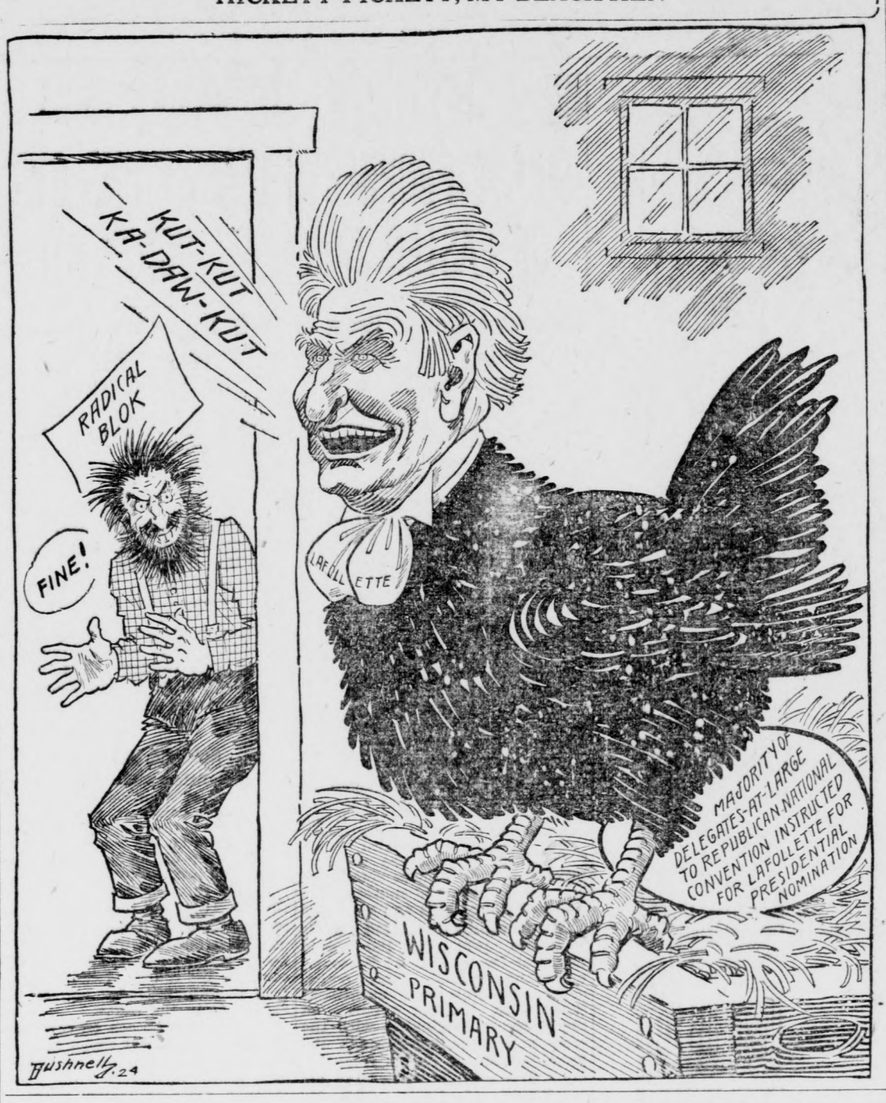
When women declare they dress in fashion to retain the respect of their own sex, rather than to please the male of the species, we suspect—but can't prove—they are not telling the whole truth. But, inasmuch as we men folks never could understand the workings of a woman's mind, perhaps we misjudge them. To this we feel sure they will agree.

They now are making eye-brow pencils and lip sticks in a variety of flavors. 'Tis well, for how could a girl tell them apart on a dark night? Orange, lemon and vanilla seem to be the favorites, although some prefer sarsaparilla.

When in Rome, do as the Romans do, we are told. The same rule would suggest doing as the Wattsans do, or the Glendalians do, if you happen to be motoring through either city.

The more personality a woman has the less rouge she needs. Personality must be getting scarce.

"HICKETY-PICKETY, MY BLACK HEN"



The Greater Calamity

By DR. FRANK CRANE

If somebody had stolen both the Teapot Dome and the Elk Hills oil lands some dark night, run away with them and given them to Japan or Great Britain, it would not have done so much harm to the United States as the investigation which has been carried on by the Senate.

That is not because investigation is wrong, it is because of the way the investigation was carried on.

If you wish to attain the ends of justice you must have someone of a judicial mind. There is no particular justice emerges from a dog fight.

If it is justice you are after you must first establish your facts. If those facts prove that certain men were guilty of crime, no consideration of reputation or high office should interfere with the business of making those persons suffer the consequences of their evil deeds.

Justice is careful, swift and relentless.

But all through the conducting of this matter by the Senate the manifest object sought was not justice but political advantage.

Throughout the whole discussion there were constant charges that whatever evil had been done was the work of the Republican party or the Democratic party. Of course nobody but a mattoid believes any such thing. If there was crime it was personal. Bad and foolish as political parties are, none of them is so unintelligent as to propose and deliberately carry out crime. Individuals do such things, sometimes, of course, making use of party machinery.

The oil scandals have done incurable harm to business, for they have spread uncertainty. The devil of business is doubt.

The oil scandals have been published in every newspaper in Europe and have created a wholly false impression of American business men and methods. The business world of America is the most honest, open, sound and sane in the world. The idea that big business in America is essentially corrupt is about as wicked and poisonous an idea as can be found. The effect of the disgraceful manner in which the oil scandals have been handled has been to propagate this septic idea.

The strange part of the whole business is that most of the Senators who have been besmirching honorable names right and left are themselves gentlemen and anywhere else than in the field of partisanship would engage in no such antics.

Yet, under our glorious party system, we cast suspicion first and afterwards search for proof. We spatter scandal and broadcast hearsay and gossip, we destroy reputations, we clog prosperity, we ruin moral influence of America in the world, all because we want to obtain political advantage for our party in the next election.

It would be difficult to find any citizen of the United States who is not in favor of the trial and punishment of every guilty person involved in the oil scandal. Nobody wants the affair hushed up nor wants any wrongdoer whitewashed.

But it would seem that there should be some sort of tribunal in the country capable of accomplishing swift and stern justice without shooting up all the bystanders.

BACK TO THE FARM
(From Stockton Independent)

Mrs. Magnus Johnson has had enough of Washington life and has announced her plan to go back to the Minnesota farm in time for the spring planting. Among other things, Mrs. Johnson has found trouble with the furnace and with all the pipes freezing and anyway she likes the joys of simple country life.

Doubtless the wives of other representatives at Washington have experienced something of that pining for the old-home associations with the friends of many years; have felt also a bit out of place in the conventional life of Washington. But few we imagine would express with the same frankness and sincerity their longing for the simple pleasures of life down on the farm. Many would suffer loneliness and discontent and yet refuse to admit that life at the Capital was other than the realization of a long-cherished dream.

Whatever may be said of Mrs. Johnson she has the courage to be true to herself and to her ideals—she has the strength of character to be herself. In the midst of conventionality and form, she retains her own individuality and refuses to pose as other than she is.

THEY CAN SEE IT NOW
(From Redlands Facts)

Three years ago when the legislature adjourned it had passed a measure including the commercial motor carriers with other carriers and had placed a tax of 2 per cent on their gross receipts. But the motor carriers had a strong drag with Governor Stephens and he vetoed the measure. The Facts editor, who had sponsored and passed that bill at the time suggested that the motor carriers would some day live to rue the day when they had such a reasonable taxation bill vetoed and the day came two years later when the legislaturre made the rate 4 per cent and Governor Richardson signed it. Of course, these carriers escaped any such taxation, for two years, so the break was about even.

But there was one other measure which these carriers opposed, which was placing their utility under state taxation alone at the 2 per cent rate, which would do away with license and other taxation to which it was subjected.

They got out and helped defeat this measure. Now they are coming to the public with an initiative measure, asking to have the very thing done which was sought to be done before, in order to escape the license and personal property taxes, which are heavy. The motor carriers were shortsighted and now seek to retrieve themselves.

MAY REVOKE LICENSES
(From San Bernardino Sun)

The fight of the bay cities against the reckless auto drivers has prompted Will H. Marsh, chief of the Motor Vehicle Department at Sacramento to remind the court officials of San Francisco and Oakland that they have been ignoring a very important section of the state law, which makes it mandatory to report to his office all cases of careless driving and speeding. Three such counts against an individual results in the revocation of his license.

The chief of the motor vehicle department says he has been endeavoring without success since he took office early in 1923 to secure the co-operation of the San Francisco and Alameda judges in enforcing this provision.

If there is an honest determination to put the speeders out of business it seems incredible that the judges would fail to take advantage of any opportunity that would assist in their suppression.

The revocation of his license is a far more effective punishment for the dangerous driver than a fine of a few dollars. If it is impressed upon him that three offenses mean his finish, he will be more likely to respect the law. It has been pretty clear that a $5 or $10 fine merely stimulates him to try greater speed.

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

OLD-FASHIONED WIVES

Old-fashioned wives are scarce, today,
Said Casper Brown in a casual way:
There's only a few of the ancient kind
Who stick to their knittin' and daily grind;
Only a few, who early and late,
Kindle the fire in the fam'ly grate.

And I'm delighted,
I'll have you know,
That I picked mine
In the Long Ago

Kindly and patient and ready for work,
Nothin' that Mandy attempts to shirk;
Stitchin' or darnin' or mendin' hose,
Singin' a song as she irons her clothes;
Cookin' or washin', or moppin' the floor,
Or carryin' food from the groc'ry store.

Oh, I was cunnin'
I'll have you know,
When I picked mine
In the Long Ago.

'Tisn't the same with the younger crowd,
With young men fooled and scared and cowed;
With flappers who paint their cheeks and lips,
And pluck their brows and pinch their hips;
Doll-faced girls who drink and smoke,
And speak of love as an ancient jo

Oh, I've got reason
To brag and crow,
For Mandy was picked
In the Long Ago.

Little Studies —of— Human Nature

THINKING OUR OWN POSSESSIONS BEST

Isn't it exasperating when we are displaying or describing some treasured possession to have our friends interrupt to tell us, in effect, how greatly superior their own things are? How often have you heard in disgusted or angry tones, "She thinks what she has is better than any one's else," or "he thinks he can do everything a little better than anyone else?"

If I tell about the cute things my baby says my friends come back with more clever sayings (or so they think) of their own youngsters. If I dilate on the superiority of the Gored car that I drive they soon tell me of its defects and how their Shuv Relay is a far better car. If I show them my new home they tell me of the wonderful new features of their own and point out inconveniences in mine. If I tell them of the fine record I have made at golf, they will be sure to have made a lower score. If I boast of the wonders of Glendale where I live they will talk loudly of the marvelous advantages of owning a home in Watts.

It's the same all the way along. It is human nature to think our own possessions are a little better than those of our friends; to be convinced that our way of doing things is superior; to believe that even the qualities with which nature endowed us and for which we are not responsible are of an excellence surpassing that of our acquaintances.

And this trait of human nature is a virtue, although it may not seem so to you when your friends interrupt your narration of your good points to tell of their own virtues. We repeat, this trait is worth while. It denotes constancy and makes for contentment. What an odd world if I didn't think my baby the prettiest and cleverest child in the world and if my friends don't think the same about their youngsters. Why should I buy a Gored car if I thought it inferior and why should my friend buy a Shuv Relay if he didn't like it? Why should I locate in Glendale if I didn't think it the best city in the world?

After all, it resolves itself into a matter of taste and makes for variety. This would be a queer world and we would pursue a monotonous existence if our tastes were exactly the same. So our old friend, Human Nature, is not to be blamed because he thinks his own possessions and qualities are best. He is a loyal old soul and to be commended.

BORDER DASH HALTED

SANTA BARBARA, April 19.—Local sportsmen are offering a reward, it is rumored for the best explanation of how Felisiano Mata, who is held for the alleged kidnaping of a 6-year-old boy, expected to make the Mexican border on a bicycle. He had covered nine miles of what one paper called a 'spectacular race' when he was captured.

HOLLYWOOD, April 19.—It has been learned here that the French government has sent a young actress, Mme. Irene Joanning, to the United States in the interests of culture. As far as could be learned from certain parties who were acquainted with her purpose in coming here, her first stop will be in New York, which will be to buy American clothes, followed by a rapid cross-country tour, winding up in Hollywood.

WANT FACTORY SITES

LONG BEACH, April 19.—Assistant Secretary Baldwin of the Chamber of Commerce received inquiries concerning a number of proposed factory sites this week. Among the number were references to a musical instrument plant, a pottery plant, a shoe factory and enlargements of present buildings of existing industries.

MORE BEACH BUILDINGS

SANTA MONICA, April 19.—According to John Steeb, prominent resident of the Malibu section north of here, the building on the beach lands, popularly known as "sandlots," is greatly on the increase. The vacant lots are disappearing rapidly under an influx of new houses. It is said by travelers that if the Malibu road were in Europe it would be crowded with the homes of the wealthiest aristocrats. Most of the beach houses are used as week-end headquarters, but some hardy people live in their homes the year round and commute to Los Angeles.

Many Delegations Bound for Convention to Ride on All-West Train

At least fifty delegates from the Northwest Real Estate Association will join the All-Western Realtors' train to Washington, according to advice received by the California Real Estate Association from Secretary T. W. Zimmerman of Portland.

"We will join the all-western train at Salt Lake City," Secretary Zimmerman wrote to the California Real Estate Association. "This is an opportunity for publicity that we should not overlook and we from the northwest cannot be outdone by our friends from the south."

Return from Meet

State President Henry P. Barbour and National Vice-President C. C. C. Tatum, who has just returned from Chicago, were guests of honor at a meeting of the Southern California committee on the national convention held Wednesday.

It was announced that besides the forty realtors from the Los Angeles Realty Board, there would be at least twenty-five others from the southern part of the state aboard the train when it pulls out of the Union Pacific depot.

The route east of Denver will be definitely determined by the board of directors of the state association at the quarterly meeting May 3. It is likely that the all-western train will take the Baltimore & Ohio and its scenic historic route from Chicago or St. Louis to the national capital.

Those Going

Among the board and association officers of Southern California who are planning to make the trip to Washington are: State President Henry P. Barbour, who will head the California delegation; President W. L. Brent, who will head the Los Angeles Realty Board delegation; National Vice-President C. C. C. Attractive Flat Building

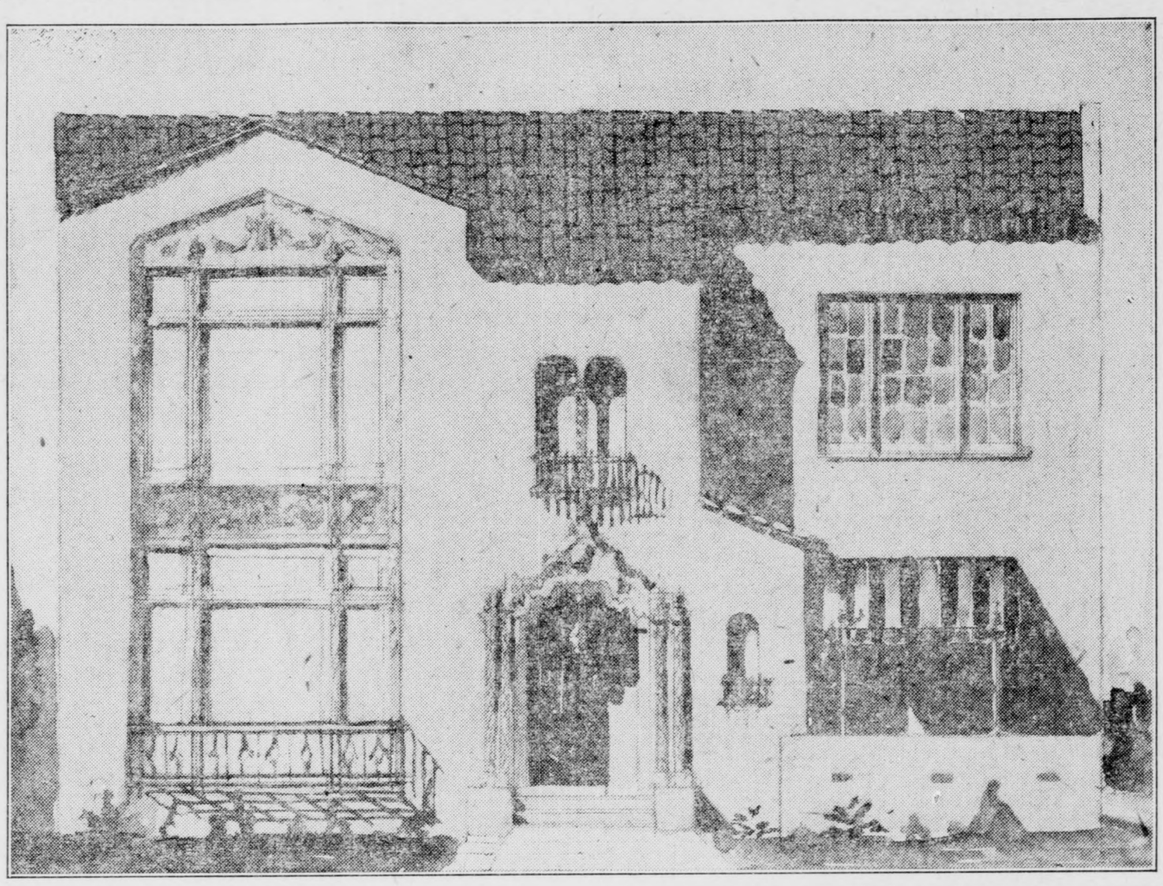
This is a picture of the attractive $15,000 four-family flat now under construction for B. F. DURYEA at the southeast corner of California and Columbus avenues. Spanish in type, with pink stucco walls and red tile roof, it marks a distinct addition to the architecture of the section. Malcolm Smith is the builder.



A beautiful $15,000 Spanish type four-family flat building of pink stucco with red tile roof is under construction for B. F. Duryea on the front of his property at the southeast corner of California and Columbus avenues. Malcolm Smith, Glendale contractor and builder who has put up many distinctive dwellings in this city, has the work in charge.

Mr. Duryea has been a resident of Glendale for five years, living in the house at the rear of the above property, 238 North Columbus avenue. In the time he has been a resident of this city he has seen it grow in population from 10,000 to 50,000.

It was Mr. Duryea's faith in the future of Glendale that led him to hold this property until he felt the time had come to develop it. With the recent decided development in this section, he has come to the conclusion that the district is now ready for the beautiful structure he is erecting.

A feature of the building is a distinctive window of massive size, extending to the second story. Stained glass set in small squares will form an attractive window in the upper story on the opposite side, while grilled balconies, bright-hued awnings and other Spanish features will add to the charm of the structure.

The interior is to be decidedly modern in arrangement and will contain many novel built-in features designed for the convenience of the tenants. Both inside and outside, the building promises to commend itself to the observer as a distinct advance in flat building construction.

Visitors Welcome To Formal Opening Of New Apartment

The "Glen Arms" apartments, located at 308 North Central avenue, will be formally opened today by W. S. Bear, 220 North Central avenue, owner, when visitors will be welcomed and shown through the building, which represents the last word in this particular type of construction in southern California.

The twenty-four apartments—twenty-one singles and three doubles—divided between the first and second floors, are models of efficiency. The phrases "strictly modern" and "elegantly furnished" are hackneyed phrases, and to the feverish apartment-hunting newcomer to California get to mean almost nothing, but "Glen Arms" is equipped and furnished equally as well, if not better, than any building of similar character in southern California.

Mr. Bear, as is evident after a tour of inspection through the building, has spared no expense in the construction or the furnishing, and that gaunt, sunless, cheerless feeling that steals over you when entering the ordinary apartment house is entirely lacking in "Glen Arms." While accordance with modern standards has required that every possible inch of room be utilized, "homeiness" has not been disregarded, and the spacious hallways and lobby convey a feeling of rest and contentment upon entering that develop into a different kind of a feeling entirely from that usually experienced by those who call apartment houses "home."

Entrance on Central

Entering by a double flight of stairs from Central avenue, the front door leads into the main lobby and office. The lobby, on the left, in common with every other room in the building, is completely carpeted, and overstuffed chairs and lounge are at the disposal of the callers. Extending straight through the first floor is a wide hallway, connecting with the entrance to each apartment. Immediately behind the lobby is a wonderful stairway of quarter sawed gum leading to the second floor, which is a replica of the first, with the exception that is has no lobby.

The single apartments, while constructed along dissimilar lines and arranged differently to suit individual tastes, all have a living room 12 by 18 feet; a kitchen 7 by 18 feet which includes a breakfast nook; a tiled bath room; dressing room and closets. The double apartments have in addition to this, a dining room, halls and closets.

The apartments are really "elegantly furnished." Floors completely carpeted, over stuffed furniture, floor lamps, combination living room and dining room table, breakfast nook and all. The bath is an example of the best in the plumber's art. Constructed of white tile, with Pembrook tubs which sit flush on the floor, all fixtures are hidden. Each bath room has a shower bath installed for use if desired. Not only in the work but in the fixtures is the class of work distinguished. Even the old plug stopper and chain of our boyhood days is missing, the tub emptying on the movement of a lever. A rubber curtain on a rod around the tub makes the bath a shower immediately. Medicine chests and all other fixtures are finished in white. Mr. Bear states that the fixtures installed in the bathroom were the best that he was able to purchase.

Labor Saving Kitchens

In the kitchen everything has been arranged to save the lady of the house the most possible steps. The ice box is built into the wall on the hall side, with outside doors and all deliveries, including milk, groceries and ice can be made without the deliveryman entering the apartment. This is a feature which very few apartment houses in California have.

Each kitchen is equipped with a white enamel "Kitchen Maid" cabinet, gas stove with broiler and a white enamel sink and drain board, with white splash boards. The floor is covered with inlaid linoleum. The breakfast nook is located on the window side of the kitchen, away from the hallway.

Silverware and china for six has been placed in every apartment, together with the necessary kitchen utensils. Mr. Bear states that it would be possible for anyone to move in at any time and start housekeeping without a dish or a piece of bedding.

The style of beds installed differ. Some are built in with two doors and another type is arranged on a swinging pivot with one door. The bedding, including mattresses and pillows were of the highest quality carried in Hamburger's at Los Angeles. While the furnishing has been done entirely, it has not been done cheaply; on the other hand, one is impressed with the expenditure of money to equip the apartments. Patent disappearing ironing boards are also included. In the cellar is located the garage, capable of holding thirty cars, reached by an inclined entrance at the rear. Deadening felt has been placed between the cellar and the first floor so that it is possible for any one to start a car in the middle of the night without disturbing the occupants of the apartments. The apartments themselves are also sound proof, the felt being placed in all dividing walls.

The rental charges include gas and electricity up to a maximum of $2 per month, and a new innovation in Glendale apartments

Railroads to Grant Realtors Low Rates

The California Real Estate Association has been advised by the railroad companies that they have agreed to advance the date of opening their summer tourist rates from June 1 to May 22, thus making possible a fare and a half for the realty delegates from this part of the United States, who expect to attend the seventeenth annual conclave June 3 to 6 in Washington, D. C.

Under the plan adopted this year for reaching the maximum of general comfort in regard to accommodations, hotel reservations for the convention must be handled through the California Real Estate Association said an association announcement today. Reservations and subsequent changes must be made through the secretary of the State Association. Washington Real Estate Board has allotted quarters for 90 Californians at the Washington Hotel. Each state will be allocated to its own hotel headquarters. In order to utilize fully first-class hotels within a very short radius from convention headquarters it is suggested that delegates should arrange in advance to double up two in a room as far as can be possibly done.

FARM LAND DIVISION

A special division of farm lands has been created within the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate brokers. The division will investigate the condition of farm lands in the state and inform homeseekers of the opportunities there.

FARM LANDS TOPIC AT MEETING

Experts Will Discuss Why Young Man Should Buy At Convention

Why should a young man buy a farm in 1924?

The question and the answer, involving the outlook for the future of American agriculture as that future is seen by officials of the United States department of agriculture, by leading American economists and by the men closest to the farm land market, will come before the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its seventeenth annual convention at Washington, D. C., June 3-6. They will be part of the program of the association's farm lands division.

The answer is two-fold, the division program indicates. First, farm prices have already passed the lowest ebb of the post-war deflation, and the man who acquires ownership of farm lands now will have the advantage of that deflation. Second, farming is more than an industry. It is a way of life. Whatever the fluctuations of farm fortunes as compared with those of the city laborer, it is a home-creating, an independent and a desirable way of life.

Suggest Surplus In License Funds Hire More Clerks

Sentiment of the real estate men in California in regard to what shall be done with the money received by the state for real estate licenses is expressed in the resolutions adopted by the farm land conference held in El Centro and Fresno under the auspices of the California Real Estate association. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, According to his recent official report, the state real estate commissioner, Edwin T. Keiser, has just turned back to the state treasury the sum of $117,000, being excess funds over and above the budgeted expenses of his office, derived from fees from licenses from real estate brokers;

Resolved, That we call the attention of the directors and members of the California Real Estate association to the fact that this surplus fund should be held available for the more efficient and comprehensive administration of the state real estate law, through the provision of necessary additional competent inspectors and clerical assistance to the staff of the real estate commissioner, and for the dissemination of information for the further development of California.

BILLBOARDS OPPOSED

Billboards along scenic highways are encountering the active opposition of local organizations within the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The San Francisco Real Estate Board is now engaged in an anti-billboard campaign.

HUNDREDS OF LICENSES DELAYED

Numerous Mistakes Made by Brokers Are to Blame, Says Commissioner

Applicants for real estate broker licenses in California make so many mistakes in submitting their applications, that State Real Estate Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser was compelled by law to hold up $20,946.28 in license fees on March 1, 1924.

This money covered 4,000 licenses for which the applicants had failed to make proper requirements either in the license application, the surety bond or the questionnaire.

The errors of omission by applicants are so numerous that the real estate department has prepared a form letter upon which are noted seventeen various errors that are made by applicants. This form letter is checked and mailed to the applicant with his application.

Common Errors

Some of the most common forms of errors include:

No application form received from you.

Failure to send in adequate fee.

Signatures incomplete.

Independence Begins at Home

Every man cherishes the ambition of one day being independent; of being free from need; or being able to live life as pleases him. Undoubtedly the first and most important step towards that end is the owning of one's home. Not as long as the roof over your head is someone else's property, can you think of yourself as independent.

1924 is America's greatest home building year. More homes are being constructed this year than ever before. This shows that American traditions of liberty and self-direction are as active today as any time in history.

As lumber dealers of compresensive experience, we are in position to help you build a home that will satisfy by its worthy construction as much as by its good design. Our services are at your disposal, and we will count it a privilege to cooperate with you in that greatest of all human accomplishments—home ownership.

GLENDALE'S NEWEST APARTMENTS—GLEN ARMS

New Apartment Attractive Building

Here's a picture of Glen Arms, the city's newest apartment building, located at 308 North Central avenue. It is owned by W. S. Bear and contains every modern convenience. It is, indeed, an apartment building of which Glendale may well be proud.

in the way of maid service, which will be supplied to all tenants.

The apartments are heated by circulating hot water, the main plant being located in the cellar. Installed here also is the Kerner incinerator, and chutes connect to all parts of the building. This does away with the unsightly cans at the rear of the apartment. All the housewife has to do is to step to the chute, drop in her cans, bottles, paper and refuse and the incinerator does the rest. Mr. Bear made an exhaustive inquiry into the incinerator question before adopting the Kerner system, he states. In its entirety the basement is 170 by 42 feet, floor and walls of cement.

The citizens of Glendale are cordially invited to come and inspect this new apartment building either today or tomorrow, states Mr. Bear. The apartments will be shown to all who care to see them.

Mr. Bear, in purchasing the materials for his apartments, followed as far as possible the "Buy in Glendale" idea.

The plumbing was installed and the fixtures furnished by the Jewel City Plumbing company of 526 East Broadway, and a glance at any of the bath rooms or kitchens will convince anyone of their ability to handle large jobs where perfection of finish and quality of material are considerations.

The wall paper and paint was furnished by the Saunders Paint company, 138 North Brand boulevard. In his selection from a large stock Mr. Bear has shown taste, and the suggestions for interior paper designs made by officials of the company indicate knowledge of their own particular sphere.

The lumber, cement and practically all of the building materials came from the yards of the Fox-Woodsum Lumber company at 714 East California avenue. They were able to meet all demands for rough and finished lumber. Two carloads of cement were used in the basement.

A large portion of the hardware came from the Glendale Hardware company, 601 East Broadway.

Mr. Bear states that in most cases the Glendale firm was able to quote him better prices than those furnished him by Los Angeles institutions.

The gas stoves, with which each apartment has been equipped, were also purchased in Glendale, at the Good Housekeping Shop, 140 South Brand. They are complete with broiler, and each is equipped with white splash boards. They are of a considerably better type than the usual gas stove found in apartments.

Mr. Bear was even able to get the awnings in Glendale, from the Glendale Awning & Tent company, 222 South Brand, owned by W. T. Gilliam. Being right on the job he was able to build the necessary awnings without the vexatious waits and delays for refitting which often accompany orders placed with firms outside of the city.

This building, representing an investment of $100,000, erected according to plans drawn by S. P. Sibberell, Glendale architect, stands as a monument to Mr. Bear's faith in the future of Glendale, and is an institution, while private in character, to which all Glendale may point with pride. Mr. Bear moved to Glendale two years ago from Riverside, and has large real estate holdings in this city in addition to the "Glen Arms."

PLAN ADDRESSES ON FARMING LAND

principal speaker for the convention's farm land conference.

The division represents farm land dealers throughout the United States and Canada. Its meetings will be one of the seven sub-conventions, representing specialized branches of real estate activity, into which the association's afternoon sessions will be divided.

In addition to discussion of the changes called for to bring about a stable farm prosperity, particularly of changes to overcome the present confiscatory effect of inequitable tax burdens on farm lands, the division will take up the specific present problems of the farm land realtor. It will go into the factors by which farm land appraisals can be made in a way to discount the influence of temporary and local market fluctuations. And it will study the advertising of farm lands from a wide variety of points of view.

Discuss Advertising

A symposium on farm land advertising will take up the last afternoon of the division meetings. The advantages of classified advertising will here be compared with those of display advertising, magazine advertising will be matched for results against newspaper advertising and folders, letters and other devices will be measured for productive value in the light of individual experience.

"Getting Farm Prospects in the City," "Getting Farm Prospects by Multiple Listing," and "How to Handle a Prospective Farm Buyer" will be other convention topics.

Formation of a "Golden Rule for Farm Land Dealers" to supplement for the division the general code of business ethics enforced by the National Association of Real Estate Boards will come before the convention in a report from its committee on ethics. Standardization of business forms in use by farm land dealers is being undertaken by the division. Progress of this work will be reported at the business session June 5.

B. F. Faast, of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, chairman of the division, will preside at the sessions. Meetings will be held at the Washington Hotel.

"We get letters every day from applicants inquiring why their licenses have not been received," Commissioner Keiser stated. "We are holding over $20,000 cash in suspense because the applicants have failed in one or more of the above requirements.

Must Be Right

"Persons who desire to engage in the real estate business should be just as accurate and exact in filling out their applications, bonds and questionnaires as they expect their clients to be in business. The law is very plain, and its wording is simple. We are issuing the licenses just as rapidly as we are permitted to do under the law.

"But we are taking nothing for granted. I am held personally responsible for every bond and license, and the applicants therefore must meet every requirement. My responsibility runs concurrently with their license and I shall expect them to be exact and responsible in all their dealings with the department."

Girl's Arrest Brings Suit for Damages

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Pearl Sloan, Huntington Park, was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, thrown into a dungeon in the county jail and kept in total darkness and solitary confinement for twenty-four hours, she claims in a $25,000 damage action filed yesterday against L. J. Cunningham and Edwin H. Dahlgren When the case was called in justice court it was dismissed because of the insufficient evidence, she claims. It is alleged by the plantiff that Cunningham and Dahlgren acted maliciously when they placed the charge against her.

Many Ideal Locations At Glen Oaks Develop When Highway Pushes Onward

Visitors to Glen Oaks have one great difficulty, according to John R. Powers of the Glen Oaks syndicate, and that is deciding which homesite to buy—for with each new bend of the beautiful Glen Oaks boulevard being pushed through to Pasadena, more ideal locations seem to be revealed.

Here a glimpse of the San Fernando valley, there a view of the green hillslopes, and now a panorama of softly carpeted foliage spread beneath—it is like wandering through some virgin forest, enchanted anew at each turn of the path.

That is the only difficulty visitors find who come to Glen Oaks, declares Mr. Powers. And each solves it according to the dictates of his own individualty. Some prefer level lots, while others choose the charming sites set up on the sides of the green hills, heavily wooded with sycamores and live oaks.

Sylvan Loveliness

"The wonderful thing about Glen Oaks is," Mr. Powers says, "the fact that so much sylvan loveliness can be located so near the heart of Glendale's business secton. Just think, you can get in your car and drive from Brand boulevard and Broadway to the center of the tract in five minutes."

Glen Oaks is reached by driving out East Broadway to Verdugo road, north to Sycamore Canyon drive, east to Sierra avenue and thence to the tract, which is indicated by signs.

Postpone Pasadena Physician's Trial

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Trial of Dr. W. C. Sohley, prominent Pasadena physician, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Walker, was continued indefinitely by Judge Edwin F. Hahn. In the meantime, the district attorney's office, in co-operation with Pasadena city authorities, began a search for Charles B. Walker, chief state witness.

Walker, husband of the dead woman, has been mysteriously missing for several days. When the trial was called in Judge Hahn's court yesterday afternoon, he failed to answer. It is known that he recently received $4,000 from the automobile club as a result of the collision with Dr. Schley's car when Mrs. Walker was killed.

The district attorney's office is working on the theory that Walker has only temporarily disappeared and that he is now in Los Angeles or in some nearby town.

A delegation from San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton, Sacramento and other cities, making up at least one sleeper, will leave via the Southern Pacific and meet the southern delegation at Ogden. The present pledges from the various boards, including the northwest delegation, indicate that there will be about 125 on the special train when it leaves Utah for the east.

Among the features will be the glee clubs of San Francisco and Oakland Real Estate Boards. The Southwest Realty Board delegation of forty-five will leave May 24 via Detroit, Niagara Falls and New York.

Doctors Cheer News Of Heart Operation

BALTIMORE, April 19.—Dignified surgeons attending the convention here of the American Surgical association jumped to their feet and cheered wildly when Dr. Elliott C. Cutler, of the Harvard Medical school, described the first successful operation on the human heart.

Dr. Cutler said he performed the operation a year ago on a girl 14 years old, baring the heart and curving the organ with a knife, thus curing a valvular disease.

Grande Vista Villa Sites In Big Demand; Features Both Many and Varied

Decided activity is reported at Grande Vista by H. N. Landon, owner and subdivider of this picturesque tract in northwest Glendale, on Mountain street, adjoining L. C. Brand's "Miradero" castle.

Practically all the level lots are sold, he states, and the villa sites are going briskly now, as the influx of summer tourists begins to be felt. Mr. Landon looks for a very exceptional summer season and states that a comprehensive building program will keep things active on this popular tract throughout the summer.

"From the Grande Vista hillslopes, one of the finest views in Glendale is afforded," he states. "Whoever has not seen the full sweep of the San Fernando valley from this superb elevation should make it a point to drive up and treat himself to a big surprise.

Cool In Summer

"Grande Vista is delightfully cool in summer time, moreover, a qualification we are inclined to forget during the winter season in Southern California, but always recall when the long sunshiny days begin again. And night-time here is fairyland, the valley another sky of twinkling lights."

To reach Grande Vista, drive north on Grand View avenue to Mountain street. The tract is a half block west of the corner, on the north side of the street.

UNIQUE TRIO IN CHURCH SERVICE

Glendale Mayor, Two Judges To Speak at Angelus Temple Sunday

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—A unique trio will occupy the pulpit at the Angelus Temple Easter Sunday night when Judge Ben Lindsey of the juvenile court of Denver, Judge Carlos Hardy of the superior court of Los Angeles and Mayor Robinson, the singing mayor of Glendale, will speak and sing to the congregation and over the radio to thousands all over the country.

They are speaking by special invitation of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of the Angelus Temple, who declares that when Glendale's singing mayor sang the old-fashioned hymns there before and Judge Hardy gave a message of brotherhood to the erring, her altar was crowded with penitents who later became converts and members of the congregation.

On Monday Judge Lindsey and Mayor Robinson will sit on the bench with Judge Hardy, by courtesy of the superior court. Judge Hardy is now occupying the court of Judge Sydney Reeves, since the latter's transfer to another court.

Paint Business Unusually Good This Spring
M. Alexander, manager of the Scriver and Quinn Paint Co., on E. Broadway, states that the volume of paint sales this spring is even ahead of last year at this time.
While building permits are a trifle behind, there are more homes and small buildings being erected this year, necessitating more paint.
Glendale enjoys the unique position of being third in building permits in the entire southwest section of the Pacific Coast, so far this year of 1924, and in addition to local business, much paint is bought in this city by people residing in Montrose, Eagle Rock, La Canada, La Crescenta, Tujunga, etc., and very few, if any, cities in the United States of the same size as Glendale support as many first-class paint stores.

LA CRESCENTA

SELECT OFFICIAL NAME OF CHORUS

'Rosecenta' Wins $5 Prize For 13-Year-Old Boy In Contest

La Crescenta schoolhouse was the setting for a happy christening party when the Community Chorus became officially known for all time as the "Rosecenta" Community Sing. This was the name chosen by the judges as the best one entered in the competition, in that it combines part of each community name. "Rose" from Montrose and "centa" from La Crescenta.

The winning name was entered by thirteen-year-old Gordon Mac Donald, whose mother, Mrs. R. T. MacDonald, is the Sing accompanist. Gordon is a newcomer to the valley and lives at Highway Highland. As the winner was not present the treasurer of the Sing was instructed to pay the $5.00 gold piece to Mrs. MacDonald. This prize was a gift to the chorus from Mark Collins, who stands behind all community organizations for improvements.

The judges of the contest were Mark Collins, president of the La Crescenta Improvement association, and Thomas S. Brown, chairman of the program committee of that organization; James L. Brown, president of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce, and C. W. Reinhard of Montrose, member of the local school board.

After the evening sing, Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, well-known reader of Glendale, gave a number of her humorous and dramatic pieces.

Meeting at Bowl

A notice was given out by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins of the coming community gathering on May 4 at Hollywood Bowl. Every Community Chorus present will be assigned their own section and will, under the direction of their leader, give some numbers. Director Prosper is very desirous of having a large number present from this community. It was to be regretted that Mrs. Carter of Hollywood was unable to be present, but ill-health prevented her appearance; however, a message read from Mrs. Carter, conveyed her regrets, also an invitation to everyone to be present at the Easter sunrise services at the Hollywood Bowl.

R. E. Tucker, secretary of the Glendale Community service, also extended a cordial invitation to be present at the Sunrise Easter morning services at Forest Lawn.

After tthe business of the evening was concluded refreshments were served by Mrs. Ed Baker and Mrs. A. W. Gregg, which concluded a most enjoyable get-together community evening.

Lay Cornerstone

Special services will be held Easter Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m., when the cornerstone of St. Luke's of the Mountains will be laid with Bishop Johnson and Bishop Coadjutor Stephens officiating. Appropriate speeches will be made by Seymour Thomas, who designed the church, while Harry Peters, architect of the church, will present Bishop Johnson with a beautiful trowel made for the occasion. Musicians from the choir of St. Mark's in Glendale will be present, Mrs. Harcourt of Los Angeles will lead the singing, with special Easter music at the morning service, when Rev. Dr. Brown of Santa Monica will administer the sacrament of Holy Communion. Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

Robert Kinsey has sold his house on Oak street to Embert Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey and family will return to Canada in about two weeks.

Ananada Ashrama is quarantined against the public entering the property—Ashrama or Peace Retreat, at the head of Pennsylvania avenue, is the mecca for over 100 people every Sunday—who journey hither to hear the Hindu philosopher and poet preach. As this property is just at the foot of the mountains adjoining the forest range lines, it is under strict quarantine, therefore no more services may be held there until the ban is lifted.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow and Elizabeth Talbot-Martin spent two days at Long Beach this week.

Don't forget the "Buddies" are giving a dance tonight in the La Crescenta schoolhouse. The "Boys" have got the best music possible engaged and as the proceeds of this dance go into their building fund it is to be hoped everyone will make an effort to be present and help the "Boys" go over the top.

BURBANK

WANT MILLER TO BE REINSTATED

Friends of City Engineer Circulating Petition in His Favor

Friends of F. Curt Miller, former Burbank city engineer, who resigned following his conviction on a Wright act charge, are circulating a petition for his reinstatement, claiming that Miller obtained the liquor on order of the police judge, after it had been confiscated from bootleggers and saturated with formaldehyde, and was using it for calking water pipe. The friends of Curtis declare his arrest was a device designed to influence votes at the municipal election. Curtis was fined $500 on the charge, after the raid made on his home uncovered a quantity of liquor.

New Spur Track

By the terms of a contract with the Southern Pacific railroad, a drill track will run into the site of the new industrial plant of the Burbank Planing mill. The first unit of the new plant will be under way within sixty days, according to Tom Walker, head of the organization. Work on the spur is about to start.

Mrs. Estelle Sproule of Palm avenue and one of the well known teachers of Burbank who presides over an Edison school class room, was elected to the position of local director of the Girl Scouts, at the last meeting of the council.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Owen of San Francisco are spending two weeks with the G. J. Snyder and J. C. Barth families on Verdugo avenue.

J. M. Stuck and family of Verdugo avenue are returning east in about three weeks.

Miss Mildred Jennings of Shawnee, Okla., formerly of Burbank, is winner of a prize for writing the best cyclone story. The story, as printed in a Shawnee paper, follows:

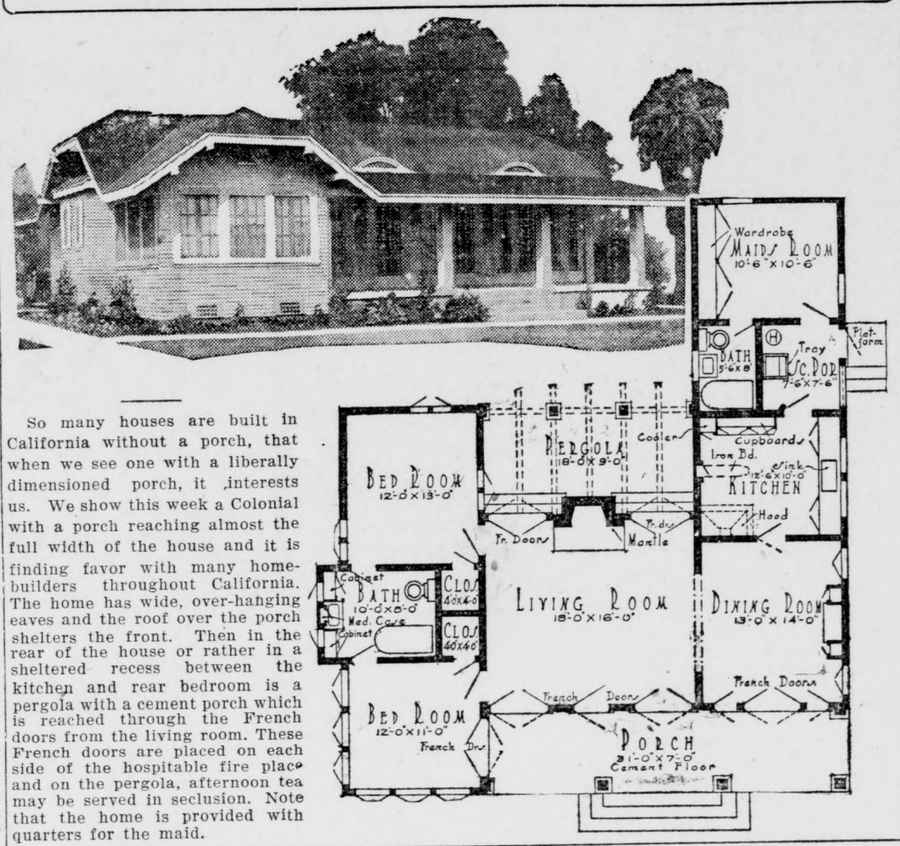
"Many freak stories are told of the antics of Friday's storm, as is always the case following the passing of a tornado, but it is believed that all contenders will take a back seat after this one.

"Charlie Ellison and Jack Fitterer, while rummaging among the ruins at the Ellison home on North Broadway, one of the most complete and total wrecks in the path of the storm, found two dozen eggs about midway between the house and the garage, or rather, midway between where these places were before the storm.

"Mr. Ellison, who travels for the Dawson Produce company, had bought the eggs in the country Thursday. They were in a paper sack, and he had set the sack in a bucket on the pantry shelf. The bucket was upside down, but the sack with the eggs in it was under it, and not an egg was broken or even cracked."

Spacious Porch Adds Beauty

Colonial design, with French windows opening on wide front porch, proves popular with home builders who want the freedom of outdoors. The above plans are submitted by the Low Building Co., authorized agents for Pacific Ready-Cut Homes.



So many houses are built in California without a porch, that when we see one with a liberally dimensioned porch, it interests us. We show this week a Colonial with a porch reaching almost the full width of the house and it is finding favor with many home-builders throughout California. The home has wide, over-hanging eaves and the roof over the porch shelters the front. Then in the rear of the house or rather in a sheltered recess between the kitchen and rear bedroom is a pergola with a cement porch which is reached through the French doors from the living room. These French doors are placed on each side of the hospitable fire place and on the pergola, afternoon tea may be served in seclusion. Note that the home is provided with quarters for the maid.

EAGLE ROCK

TRUSTEES URGED FOR CITY'S GOOD

Controlling Boby Needed to Look After Interests, Says H. G. Warren

"Things that have not yet happened can be made to happen," declared H. G. Warren, in visualizing the future of Eagle Rock. "Doubly true is this where the community has no Board of Trustees to take care of its many local interests. We have no city aldermen either within or near Eagle Rock district. Los Angeles is a great on-rushing city with many great problems and unless we have an efficient organization, well manned, to attend to our many and vital interests they will not be attended to and the evidence of neglect will soon be apparent; nor does a community that has neither public soul, nor civic pridee deserve very much attention. The Chamber of Commerce is the one recognized body that keeps awake to every local interest and intelligently presents those interests to the Los Angeles Council and presses their claim.

"Our private and personal interests can never be what they should unless the public affairs are taken care of. The town itself must receive attention and service. Our streets, parkways, vacant lots, zoning, buildings, schools and a thousand other things must be taken good care of if our property and business interests are to develop as they should. Our Chamber of Commerce cannot do all these things directly, but it is the Chamber's business, with the co-operation of all the people, to see that we get action and that the programs we put up for Eagle Rock betterment are put across.

Items of Interest

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Yems, of Laguna, were the honor guests of Mrs. J. E. Argus, of Hill Drive, at dinner on the evening of the opening of the California Art Exhibition at Exposition Park. Later in the evening Mr. Yems, who is a well known artist, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Argus and party of ten at the Art Institute, where all the prominent artists and their friends gathered for a special evening before the general public views the exhibits.

Al. Geimer is again with the Eagle Rock fire fighting crew after a short sojourn at the store rooms of the Los Angeles fire department. Geimer is no more delighted at being back with the force than the members of the department here are over his return.

Mr. Sam Wisdom of South Royal Drive has returned from a successful business trip to the north of the State and will spend the summer here.

Mrs. J. M. Beath of Ridge View has practically recovered from injuries received when she fell in stepping off the curb at Norwalk and Eagle Rock boulevard.

Miss Nellie Toothacker of Merton avenue, has Miss Agnes M. Donnelly making her home with her.

Walter S. Whemon, prominent official of the American Steamship Company, who resides on Live Oak View street, has been in Chicago on a business trip.

James F. Cole has sold his home at 5159 Royal Drive to W. L. White, local real estate dealer. Mr. Cole is now residing at 5117 Vincent avenue.

SUNLAND

SCENIC RAILWAY PLAN SUPPORTED

Chamber of Commerce for Project Sponsored by Verdugo City Body

The outsanding feature of the last meeting of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce was the indorsement of the plan for a scenic railway through the valley, which is being sponsored by the Verdugo City Association of Commerce. A resolution adopted by the Verdugo City organization was presented and endorsed by unanimous vote. The resolution reads:

"Be it resolved, by the Verdugo City Association of Commerce of San Fernando Valley and the county and city officials in the towns along the following proposed right of way in a project of a scenic railway starting from Los Angeles via Glendale, Montrose, Verdugo City, Tujunga, Sunland, Pacoima, San Fernando, Van Nuys, Lankershim, Hollywood and back to Los Angeles, connecting en route with Verdugo Canyon, Big Tujunga, Little Tujunga and Pacoima canyons;

"Be it further resolved, we urge all the people and civic bodies in the cities and towns along the proposed right of way to unite at once for the purpose of negotiating with the Pacific Electric railway and other interested railways, or persons, for the express purpose of bringing about favorable action on this subject."

Residents along the proposed right of way believe that the railway would be of great value to the several communities.

A committee will request the county surveyor to make a street numbering map for the purpose of furnishing numbers for Sunland houses.

Dance Program Ready

Elmer Adams, chairman of the committee arranging for the dance and entertainment to be given at Twin Pines pavilion April 29, reported that plans were nearly completed and that a fine program is being prepared.

The quest for a suitable slogan for the use of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce and Sunland residents in general brought forth several, which were turned over to a committee for selection. Among them were: "Sunland will find its place in the sun." "Best under the sun—Sunland." "Sunland, the valley of sunshine." "Sunny Sunland Satisfies." "J. H. Creighton, C. H. Satterlee and C. A. Edwards will have the task of picking one to be used in publicity.

The Valley Center Improvement Association has voted to cooperate with the Sunland Chamber of Commerce in placing street signs, and has undertaken to supply the posts and signs for the territory between Walnut and Third streets. Lloyd Foster reported to a recent meeting that the La France fire engine company may send a pumper to Sunland for demonstration. On account of the delayed permission from the state highway commission to plant athel trees along the state highway, it was decided to take no action this year, as it is too late in the season.

The Montecito club will give one of its enjoyable dances for members tonight at the Sparr Heights Community House. This club has given several very fine affairs here, which have proven very popular and no one ever refuses to accept an invitation to one of their affairs.

Theo. Belanger is expected home on Monday. Mr. Belanger is at the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles where he underwent a successful operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. A. F. Hopkins entertained her aunt, Mrs. Kate Seaver of Hollywood, over the week-end. Mrs. Seaver came over on Thursday for the Community Chorus christening.

Easter Sunday will be a big day at the Montrose Community church where every one will assist in decorating the church by bringing potted plants or cut flowers, in memory of some departed relative or friend. These flowers and plants will have the name card of the donor attached.

It is expected a large number of new members will join the church at the morning services which will begin at 10:30 o'clock. Reverend Durr extends a cordial invitation to all to assist in these Easter services.

Specialty Shop Draws Buyers to Glendale

Glendale is evidently gaining a widespread reputation as a city of smart shops, particularly in millinery and women's ready to wear. Several of the local shops are reporting a surprising number of sales to shoppers from the better residential districts of the Southland, some of them a good many miles from Glendale.

The Marion Elizabeth shop in Jensen's Arcade reports sales the past week to buyers from Pasadena, quite a number from Hollywood, several from the Wilshire district and Beverly Hills and some from as far away as Santa Monica.

This is particularly to the credit of Glendale's shops when one considers the great number of specialty smart shops scattered throughout Los Angeles, Hollywood and Pasadena.

Kitchen Stove Blows Up, Two Near Death

SAN DIEGO, April 19.—Four members of the Caylor family, living in a tent house on the outskirts of San Diego were badly burned when their gasoline kitchen stove exploded, spraying the entire interior with blazing petrol.

Samuel Caylor and his 16-year-old daughter Jewell inhaled the flames, besides suffering severe bodily burns. The clothing of both was almost entirely burned away while they rolled on the ground outside of the tent house. They may not recover, hospital attendants stated.

Mrs. Caylor and Harold, 18-year-old son, were also severely burned, but did not breathe the flames and gas.

Plan to Bar Visitors From Mt. Lowe Region

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Coincident with the announcement that Easter Sunrise services at Mt. Lowe have been cancelled because of quarantine regulations, it was announced at the office of County Forester Stuart J. Flintham that an order will be issued barring all of Mt. Lowe and the Alpine Tavern district to visitors.

The order, if upheld, will mean the cancellation of scores of train reservations on the Pacific Electric and the cancellation of their service on the Rubio Canyon, Echo Mountain and Alpine division and disappoint thousands of tourists who make the beautiful region their mecca annually.

D. W. Pontius, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Electric, stated that he would appeal the enforcement of the order to the State Railroad Commission.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Caolries

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

SCABIES

Mrs. C.—Yes, the itch that used to be called the Seven Years' Itch is undoubtedly what we know as Scabies. Scabies is due to a little insect called the Acarus Scabiei, or Itch-mite. It is a very tiny insect, just visible to the naked eye, and it looks not unlike a crab. It burrows under the skin and seems especially to like the front of the wrists and between the fingers, the breasts and around the navel. The itching is intense, especially at night, and the poisons secreted by the litch-mite, combined with the scratching by the patient, produce inflammatory reactions, pimples and perhaps eczematous-looking spots.

There is no difficulty in curing this form of itch, if the directions are carried out faithfully. The treatment is directed to killing the Itch-mites on the bed clothes and body.

The treatment—A prolonged hot bath, scrubbing the body well with soap, especially the spots that are affected. After drying, rub in sulphur ointment thoroughly all over the body, paying especial attention to the spots that are affected. Sulphur in the dry powder form can be used also and good results are reported from it. A teaspoonful can be scattered around between the sheets of the bed, also.

This treatment is to be repeated night and morning, for three days. Clean underwear and bedding must be used when the treatment is begun, because that which has been used is probably infected. This three-day application of the sulphur ointment usually kills off the Itch-mite; but if it does not, then another course has to be taken. If the sulphur irritates the skin after the first treatment, it is better to stop it for a few days and use a simple cold cream or petroleum jelly, and then start the treatment again.

The clothing and the bedding must be disinfected. Washable things can be boiled and woolen clothing can be baked or ironed with a very hot iron. All infected persons of the family have to be treated and it must be remembered that the disease is contagious. The infected person must not use other people's towels or clothing and must not sleep with others.

Alas, alack! my dear K. N., the S. A. S. E. you didn't send! Without self-addressed stamped envelope, advice not sent, e'en to the Pope!

Miss B.—Your arms will increase in size as you gain in weight and then you can take special arm exercises which will round out the muscles. You are following our directions given in your paper? If you missed them, you may have them by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope to me, through your newspaper.

Painful menstruation may be due to many things—in general, anything that obstructs or delays the flow, such as abnormal position of the uterus (bad posture in sitting and standing often are factors in forcing the uterus to an abnormal position); lack of tone of the uterine muscles; constipation, with impacted feces in the lower colon.

Exercises which strengthen the abdominal and back walls will also strengthen the organs of the pelvis. Sitting in a bath of hot water, as hot as can be borne, will often relieve the menstrual pains. Build up your general health. Send for the article on atonic abdominal walls and the articles on constipation and follow their directions. If you experience no relief you should have an examination.

Monday—Hiccoughs.

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or ciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the .·. Beauty Chats .·.

By EDNA KENT FORBES

OVID'S ADVICE ABOUT BEAUTY

Perhaps when you were at school you had to translate the works of Ovid, who was born in 43 B. C. and who became a pet of Roman literary and smart society and finally took his place among the classic Latin poets. Read the amusing things he has to say about woman and beauty, which I have taken from Wright's somewhat free translation of his poems, and you will see that the Roman woman 2000 years ago pursued beauty as industriously as now, and that the Roman man was just as cynical as any man is today:

Let neatness be your chiefest charm
And see your hair is well arrayed,
One touch succeeds and one does harm,
Not every style suits every maid.
Choose yours: and in the mirror glance
Till you achieve true elegance.
Perhaps there is no need to say
Your legs and armpits should be white,
Their hair by pumice smoothed away,—

But nowadays we can use depilatories which are much more comfortable, and we have a great advantage over the Roman maid in the way of silk stockings. Later he goes on:

Rouge a pale cheek, a red one powder,
Each maiden knows that art's allowed her.
But do not let your art be seen.
Your husband must not ever find
A powder-puff behind a screen,
Or come upon you from behind
When the cold cream is oozing down
And moistening your dressing-gown.

Later on, after much teasing because women bought their wigs in the open market place, he writes two lines which every woman should take to heart:

Keep us in darkness, for 'tis wise
To hide some secrets from men's eyes.

B. A. F.—At 16 years, height five feet, six inches, the weight should be about 120 pounds.

D. E. B.—Stray gray hairs may be so tinted by using henna as a shampoo, that they will not be noticeable, and the natural shade of the hair will not be affected by its use. This is a much better way of handling the situation than to resort to a dye. Dyed hair is seldom becoming and the chances are that the hair will be injured. If you use the henna mix it with the soapy lather and leave it on the hair about three minutes. Proceed then as with any other shampoo.

Nina L.—The douche for the eyes which you mention is very weak salt water.

Ruby—You should not go without the arch supports if you still need them. It is a mistake to try to fit yourself with these, however, and possibly that accounts for the pain you continue to have with your feet. You should have a good chiropodist do this for you, so the arch gets just the correct support without any further misplacement of the bones.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

LECTURER TELLS OF EASTER TIME

Traces History of Feast to Earliest Beginnings of Hebrew Race

first feast, showing how the lamb of the passover was the type of the Savior. She said, 'In Exodus 12 and in Leviticus 23:5 we read how under the law a lamb without blemish was chosen out of the flock of every Hebrew family on tenth day nisan, the first month of the Jewish year, which began some time in March or early April, according to the changes of the moon, and in event there was no flock, the lamb was purchased from the priests.

"In First Corinthians 5:7 we read 'For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us' and in John 12:1-9 'so Christ sold by Judas at same time' (after sunset) was tenth nisan and is the same time as Matthew 26:6-16.

Lamb Is Slain

"The lamb was watched until fourteenth day nisan for blemish and then slain, the blood caught and with a branch of hyssop sprinkled upon door posts as a sign to the death angel that plague shall not visit that home and the first born be saved. So Judas watched Christ, (Matthew 26:16) for four days for an opportunity to betray Him unto the hands of Roman soldiery. Without blemish, Matthew 3:17, John 19:4, I Peter 1:19. 'This is my beloved son in whom I am well pleased.' Pontius Pilate declaring, 'I find no fault in Him, and Herod saying, 'I do not find this man worthy of death.'

"The lamb was slain on fourteenth nisan, so was Christ crucified on fourteenth day nisan for John 19:31 speaks of the evening beginning the feast of unleavened bread. The law demanded the Passover lamb be roasted without coming near water and eaten in haste with bitter herbs, without a particle being destroyed.

"In John 19:28 we read, 'No water was given Him, but they filled a sponge with vinegar and put it upon hyssop and put it to His mouth' and in John 19:33-36, that not a bone of His body had been broken.

Shows Christ's Work

"In closing this chapter Miss Rouzee made a stirring appeal that as the blood of lambs had to be sprinkled on door posts to save lives, so must we appropriate the shed blood of Christ individually and in the command that bread without leaven be eaten for seven days, beginning the fifteenth day nisan (the day after the slaying of the passover lamb) so are we called to a holy walk, after the redemption by our Passover Lamb, as in Second Corinthians 7:1 and Galatians 5:7-9, the feast of unleavened bread typifies the result of Christ's work on the cross.

"In presenting the third feast, the first fruits, which occurred during seven days and on the first day of the week, according to Leviticus 23:9-15, the Hebrews offered just one sheaf from the early harvest, the sheaf that came from seed that had died to give life to the plant as in First Corinthians 15:36, 'Thou fool, that which thou sowett is not quickened except it die.'

"Miss Rouzee pointed out the significant fact that Paul in First Corinthians 15:20, called Jesus Christ 'Our First Fruits' and as we read Luke 24:1, so Christ rose on the first day after the Sabbath after the Passover. The striking fulfillment of the prophecy was brought out that He rose from the dead on this same first day of the week, when every Jew was bringing his first fruits offering.

In Savior's Tomb

"Describing her sensations in Palestine, when she stepped inside the tomb, recently unearthed through archeology, and believed to be the tomb of the Savior, Miss Rouzee told of the practice among archeologists to send specimens of the tomb dust to laboratories of England for analysis and of the returned reports of chemical elements of bone in the dust, but when samples of this tomb dust were sent the thundering report came back, 'We find absolutely no chemical trace of disintegrated bone' calling forth the challenge to Christendom and the crowd at large, the proof that 'He is not here, He is risen.'

"The audience was left with this thought, 'Easter morn means something new, based on not man's but God's prophecy that had its roots in the past.' Closing, she said, 'Now we will approach the closed days of the closed tomb in quietness, to burst forth in triumphal praise on Easter morn to Him who is not here for He is risen.'"

Summer officially begins June 22.

MACHIAVELLISM

The time-worn adjective Machiavellian is derived from Niccolo Machiavelli, one of the most brilliant and versatile writers of the Italian Renaissance, whose exclusion of moral considerations in his treatment of politics in "The Prince" led to his name becoming a synonym for knavery in public and private policy.

Glance through the daily newspapers and then consider whether these views of hs on how Princess should keep faith (remembering that there are princes in republics as well as in monarchies) are antiquated.

"Everyone understands how praiseworthy it is in a Prince to keep faith, and to live uprightly and not craftily. Nevertheless, we see from what has taken place in our own days that Princes, who have set little store by their word, but have known how to over-reach men by their cunning, have accomplished great things, and in the end got the bettere of those who trusted to honest dealing.

"Be it known, then, that there are two ways of contending, one in accordance with the laws, the other by force; the first of which is proper to men, the second to beasts. But since the first method is often ineffectual, it becomes necessary to resort to the second. A Prince should, therefore, understand how to use both the man and the beast. And this lesson has been covertly taught by the ancient writers, who relate how Achilles and many others of these old Princes were given over to be brought up and trained by Chiron, and Centaur; since the only meaning of their having for instructor one who was half man and half beast is that it is necessary for a Prince to know how to use both natures, and that the one without the other has no stability.

"But since a Prince should know how to use the beast's nature wisely, he ought of beasts to choose both the lion and the fox; for the lion cannot guard himself from the toils, nor the fox from the wolves. He must therefore be a fox to discern toils, and a lion to drive off wolves.

"To rely wholly on the lion is unwise; and for this reason a prudent Prince neither can nor ought to keep his word when it is hurtful to him and the causes which led him to pledge it are removed. If all men were good, this would not be good advice, but since they are dishonest and do not keep faith with you, you, in return, need not keep faith with them; and no Prince was ever at a loss for plausible reasons to cloak a breach of faith.

"It is necessary to put a good color on this nature and to be skillful in simulating and dissembling. But men are so simple, and governed absolutely by their present needs, that he who wishes to deceive will never fail in finding willing dopes. . .

"It is not essential, then, that a Prince should have all of the good qualities of mercy, good faith, integrity, humanity and religion, but it is most essential that he should seem to have them; I will even venture to affirm that if he has or invariably practices them all, they are hurtful, whereas the appearance of having them is useful. Thus, it is well to seem merciful, faithful, humane, religious, and upright and also to be so; but the mind should remain so balanced that were it needful not to be so, you should be able and know how to change to the contrary.

"And you are to understand that a Prince, and most of all a new Prince, cannot observe all those rules of conduct in respect whereof men are accounted good, being often forced, in order to preserve his Princedom, to act in opposition to good faith, charity, humanity and religion. He must therefore keep his mind ready to shift as the winds and tides of fortune turn, and, as I have already said, he ought not to quit good courses if he can help it but should know how to follow evil courses if he must.

"A Prince should therefore be very careful that nothing ever escapes his lips which is not replete with the five qualities above named, so that to see and hear him, one would think him the embodiment of mercy, good faith, integrity, humanity, and religion. And there is no virtue which is more necessary for him to seem to possess than this last; because men in general judge rather by the eye than by the hand, for every one can see but few can touch. Every one sees what you seem, but few know what you are, and these few dare not oppose themselves to the opinion of many who have the majesty of state to back them up.

"Moreover, in the actions of all men, and most all of Princes . . . we look to results. Wherefore if a Prince succeeds in establishing and maintaining his authority, the means will always be judged honorable and approved by every one. For the vulgar are always taken by appearances and by results, and the world is made up of the vulgar. . . ."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S MARBLES

"Hello, Billie, you are around early, aren't you?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the little squirrel boy, who was cracking nuts on the steps of the hollow stump bungalow one morning soon after breakfast.

"Yes, I came over early to ask if you would walk to school with me?" asked Billie, frisking his tail about and dusting the steps so Nurse Jane wouldn't have to sweep them. "Yesterday you went to school with my brother Johnnie."

"No, I didn't quite go to school," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "But Johnnie came here before school and let me take his roller skates. But if you have roller skates, Billie, or even a jumping rope, like Susie Littletail, or a hoop as her brother Sammie had——"

"Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily. I haven't any of those things," chattered Billie. "All I have are some marbles in my pocket. And you can carry them if you like until we get to school."

"Well, perhaps, I'd better do that," said the rabbit gentleman. "True, you can't trip my friends up with your marbles, as Sammie did with his hoop. And you can't get your marbles tangled in the bushes as Susie did with her rope. But you might keep dropping your marbles out of your pocket, and, stopping to pick them up would make you late for school. So I'll carry them for you?"

"Well, of all the silly things I ever heard of, this is the worst! The idea of a grown rabbit man, like Uncle Wiggily, going to school every morning with the animal children!" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she looked out of the window and saw Mr. Longears hopping along with Billie. "Carrying his marbles—too! Dear me! Wiggy is like Peter Pan—he'll never grow up!"

But the rabbit gentleman seemed to be having a very good time as he hopped along beside the boy squirrel. The sun was shining down through the trees, casting shadows on the ground, and the black shadows seemed to be playing tag with the patches of yellow sunshine.

"Tag! You're it, Uncle Wiggily!" cried the boy squirrel, and he tickled the rabbit gentleman with his fluffy tail.

"Oh, ho, tag is a game I can very well play!" laughed the rabbit, and he hopped after Billie and soon touched him. As he stooped over to do so, something fell out of one of the pockets of Mr. Longears.

"It's my marbles! You're losing them!" chattered Billie.

"Oh, so I am," cried the rabbit. "Excuse me, I'll pick them up!"

He put Billie's marbles back in his pocket and then Uncle Wiggily and the boy squirrel went on together until they were near the Hollow Stump school. The first bell was ringing and the animal boys and girls were gathering to their lessons.

"Let me see, what's today, Billie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Thursday," was the answer, "and Sunday is Easter and I'm going to hunt for eggs."

"Um—yes—Thursday, is it?" murmured Uncle Wiggily. "I promised the Lady Mouse teacher I'd come in today and give the children a little talk about Easter. I'm glad I thought of it. I'll go in now."

And just then Jackie Bow Wow ran up and pretended to bite Billie so the squirrel boy forgot all about his marbles in the bunny's pocket.

"Children, we are very glad to have Uncle Wiggily with us this morning; aren't we?" squeaked the Lady Mouse a little later, as the bunny gentleman was sitting on the platform with her in front of all the school.

"Yes, ma'am!" answered the animal boys and girls.

"And we want him to give us a little talk about Easter, don't we?" went on the Lady Mouse.

"If he could tell us a story it would be better!" quacked Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck boy, and all the others laughed, while even the Lady Mouse teacher smiled, which showed that she wasn't angry.

"Very well," spoke Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose as he stood up. "I shall tell you an Easter story." Then the rabbit gentleman began, while the children kept very quiet.

"Once upon a time," said Uncle Wiggily, "I was sitting all alone in my bungalow. Nurse Jane had gone out and I was wondering what I could do to have an adventure. It was very still and quiet as it is here now, when, all of a sudden——"

And, just as Uncle Wiggily said that, all at once there sounded on the platform beside him:

"Rattle bang! Bang rattle! Clickity click clack! Thump!"

Out of Uncle Wiggily's pocket, as he stooped over to show how quiet it was, fell Billie's marbles. What a clatter they made on the floor! Suck a racket!

Out of Uncle Wiggily's pockets fell Billie's marbles.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the children. The Lady Mouse squeaked:

"Dear me! I didn't know you played marbles, Uncle Wiggily!"

The rabbit gentleman's pink nose turned red.

"They are Billie's marbles I was keeping for him," he said. "But here are some I'm not going to keep!" he suddenly cried. And, at that instant the Bob Cat tried to climb in the school window. But the rabbit, catching up some hard marbles, hit the Bob Cat with them on his nose, and the Bob Cat jumped down out of the window and ran away crying:

"Meow! Meow! Meow!"

"Well, I'm glad I had Billie's marbles" said Mr. Longears. Then he picked up those that had fallen, took the remainder from his pocket and went on telling the Easter story which I shall tell you soon. And if the vinegar jug doesn't take a lot of sugar to try and make itself sweet like the molasses pitcher, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Squeakie's bottle.

Strange Story of Slaying

MRS. BEULAH ANNAN, who is in murderers' row in the Cook county, Illinois, jail, charged with having shot an admirer. She telephoned to her husband and he brought the police. But before that she played jazz records in the room of the slaying.

CHICAGO, April 19.—There now are six women in murderers' row in the Cook county jail. But the story of the latest arrival puts her in a class by herself.

When Harry Kolstedt, 29, went calling on Mrs. Beulah Annan in the absence of her husband, she began teasing him about another admirer of her's, regaling him with stories of her affairs with him so convincing that Harry started to leave. Then, she told police, she realized that Harry could never come back, so she shot and killed him.

Then, for three or four hours, while the phonograph merrily ground out jazz records, she held the head of the dead man in her lap, kissing his chilling lips and weeping. Finally she decided to telephone her husband, to whom Kolstedt was a complete stranger, and tell him about it. He brought police.

THE GLENDALE

Dustin Farnum in "Kentucky Days" shows for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre, portraying the role of John Buckner, a romantic Kentuckian who ventures into the gold fields to recuperate his fortune, leaving his bride in the care of Gordon Carter, a cousin, whom he trusts implicitly. Carter, who is in love with the woman, presses his attention. He tells the girl Buckner has died in the west, but the husband returns suddenly, to find his wife in Carter's arms.

Margaret Fielding plays the role of the wife and Bruce Gordon portrays the cousin. Their work is accurate and extremely dramatic. Farnum is even better than usual. An excellent piece of character work is done by William P. DeVaull as Scipio, the old darkie servant in the Buckner mansion.

"Mother," said George, as he presented an office chum who had come to spend Saturday afternoon h 80TgBletaoin hrdlu hrdlu lupp with him, "this is my friend, Mr. Specknoodle."

"My friend, Mr. Specknoodle!" shouted George.

"I'm sorry," said his mother, "but I can't hear distinctly."

"Specknoodle!" George fairly bellowed.

"I'm afraid it's no use," said the old lady, as she shook her head. "It sounds just like 'Specknoodle' to me."

Gloria Swanson in "The Humming Bird" shows at the Gateway Theatre for the last times today.

Edward Burke has the leading man's role in support of the star. Others in the cast are William Riccardi, Jacques d'Auray, Mario Majeroni and Regina Quinn. Forrest Halsey wrote the scenario and Harry Fishbeck did the photography.

The story deals with life in the Montmartre section of Paris, where artists and apaches — Bohemians all—mingle in the tiny studios and restaurants. Miss Swanson, who plays the dual role of Toinette and "The Humming Bird," rubbed her eyes when she walked into the scene for the first time. She knows the section, having visited it many times when she was abroad.

A woman had just learned that her negro charwoman, Aunt Dinah, had at the age of 70 married for the fourth time.

Daily News Letter

For International News Service

HONOLULU, April 19.—Sea gulls are not common in the Hawaiian Islands, but they are by no means unknown. Now and then a few gulls may be seen flying around ships at the entrance to Honolulu harbor; then they may disappear for weeks at a time. It is probable that these birds follow steamers down from the Golden Gate. This is a six or seven day trip, but at that the gulls probably get more rest, mile for mile, than do the plovers which fly down each winter from Alaska to bask in the warm Hawaiian sunshine with other tourists. It is said that the plovers make the trip direct—no layovers; the gulls alight occasionally on the water and take rests between flights. The trip for either bird is somewhere around 2,000 miles.

Frank Keao, one of the Hawaiian diving boys that throng Honolulu's waterfront on steamer days, did a high dive "just for the fun of it" from the upper lifeboats of a round-the-world steamer that passed through this port some months ago. Frank did the dive well, so well that a vaudeville agent, looking for special attractions for his circuit, inquired after the boy and found that he was the best diver of all that brown-skinned group that swim out to wheedle coins from the elusive tourist. Some weeks later Frank got a letter that made mere coin diving look very small indeed. Now he has headed for the mainland with a $75 a week contract in his pocket, scheduled to appear in a well-known water circus. Result, all the swimming boys in Honolulu are striving each steamer day to emulate the Keao dive.

Scientific explorations begun last year by the Bishop Museum of Honolulu in co-operation with the United States Navy for special study of islands to the west and northwest of the Hawaiian group proper, will be continued this coming summer with the additional help of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. Dr. Herbert E. Gregory, director of the Bishop Museum, has just returned to this city after completing plans for the work with the Cleveland Museum authorities. It is probable that the work will be carried farther south this summer, although the full extent of it has not been mapped out.

Timely Views

PACIFIC POSSESSIONS OF U. S. AND CANAL MAKE IT SECOND WORLD POWER, SAYS TRIPP.

"France is very busy. Her exports are now in excess of her imports, thus the low price of the franc is actually helping her to improve her general situation," reports Guy E. Tripp, chairman of the board of Westinghouse Electric, who has just returned from a round the world trip.

GUY E TRIPP

"England is not yet out of her difficulties, her employment problem being serious. Her Labor government, though complacently accepted by most Englishmen, is apparently inherently unstable, and if Premier MacDonald is not sufficiently radical he will likely be deposed by his own party, while if he does become radical, there are enough Conservatives left in England to force him out.

"The immense potential strength of the British empire is, however, a factor of the highest importance. Great Britain controls practically every strategic point in the great trade belt passing through the Mediterranean and encircling Asia. Among these points are Gibraltar, Malta, the Suez Canal, India, Straits Settlements, Singapore and Hong Kong. As long as she retains these outposts her position as the leading world power can hardly be jeopardized by difficulties at home.

"Incidentally, the United States, possessing Manila, the Philippines, Hawaii and the Panama Canal, ranks second as a world power.

"But behind every phase of the individual and commercial situation in Europe lies Germany. She possesses unequaled industrial resources, both as to physical plant and trained men, and she will quickly place herself in position to challenge the leadership of any other nation just as soon as she can free herself from her present difficulties.

"In the Far East, Japan is an outstanding figure. She alone of all the Oriental nations needs no extensive help from Europe and America. Though the destruction caused by the earthquake was enormous, it was not an unmixed evil. The destroyed cities will be rebuilt on a very much better scale and the buildings will be as proof against earthquakes as it is possible to make them. The Japanese are doing the reconstructional work themselves, and the technical and financial experience thus gained will undoubtedly be worth the price to this progressive and energetic nation.

"In the Philippines, China, India and other Asiatic countries there are prospects for extensive industrial development, but generally speaking, it will be done by Europeans, Americans and Japanese. There is, apparently, no racial desire for improvement and progress as we understand these words.

"China is a conspicuous example of the Oriental tendency to resist Occidental ideas. If the accounts of Marco Polo, who traveled through China in about A. D. 1300, are to be believed, China is no further advanced toward our standard today than she was 1000 years ago."

HUGH S. CUMMING

Despite the refusal of the United States to enter the League of Nations, the league has called on several Americans to fill offices in the organization. The latest to be so honored is Hugh S. Cumming, surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service. Dr. Cumming has been made a vice-president of the permanent world health organization formed by members of the league.

HUGH CUMMING

The noted health executive is now 55 years old. He is a native of Virginia. He received his medical degree from the University of Virginia, and became an assistant surgeon in the United States Public Health Service in 1894, so this is his thirtieth year in the service. He attained the rank of surgeon, U. S. P. H. S., in 1911.

He got into the war immediately and was on duty with the navy during the period of hostilities. After the armistice was signed he served as a member of several medical missions. He represented the United States at the Cannes conference; was the American member of the Office Internation D'Hygiene Publique, and was president of the allied medical mission to Poland.

He is the author of a number of works and pamphlets on public health. His home is in Washington, D. C.

Woman's Oldest Drudgery Reduced To A Science.
Washing clothes, as done in the household, is and always has been woman's most tiresome, back-breaking drudgery.
Yet modern science has taken each washing operation, and found a way to do it in an easy, sanitary, and more perfect way than it could ever be done at home.
One scientific operation softens the water.
Another washes the clothes by gentle movement and emersion in mild suds.
Another scientifically extracts the water with centrifugal force.
Another drys them better than sunshine.
Another scientifically "presses" them. More perfect work and easier on the clothes than ironing.
Take advantage of Science's accomplishments—Laundry.

SIX MOUNDSMEN UNABLE TO STOP HITTING TIGERS

Ten of Essick's Crew Face Four Angel Pitchers In Seventh Inning

By R. C. FRANKLIN
For Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Ten Tigers coming to bat, facing almost half as many Angel pitchers in the seventh inning of yesterday's game proved disastrous, and Vernon copped the fourth game of the series 10-6. Though Marty Krug's outfit held the long end of a 4 to 2 score up to the seventh frame, the Tigers cinched the bacon in the last of this inning putting across six runs.

The Angels pounded out hits at will in the fourth, making things look bad for Cadore, the Vernon twirler, who was relieved by Courtney. After scoring two one down, a fast double play, Deal runs, the bases choked and only to Hanna to McDowell stopped the Angel's rally. The fatal seventh brought forth a parade of Krug's pitching staff. Hanna and Slade started off the fireworks. Each pounded out a two-bagger. O'Neal then replaced Wallace who retired one man then allowed Menosky a single and Blakesley a double. Krug then sent in Walters, but the Tigers knocked him out with a single and a triple, he being replaced by Ramsay, who walked Hanna and Slade, and after the tenth Tiger wielded the stick the much longed-for out was negotiated when Courtney was thrown out at first. The Angels rallied again in the eighth, driving in two scores but were unable to offset Vernon's long lead.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago White Sox, today was ordered to return to California by his physician, who said that his condition was not improving here despite an operation for sinus.

Specialist Offers to Aid Langford's Eyes

NEW YORK, April 19.—It was reported today that Dr. James Smith, eye specialist of this city, had offered to perform an operation upon Sam Langford, noted negro heavyweight boxer, without charge. Langford is threatened with blindness and is said to be penniless.

TAGGING ALL BASES

By International News Service.

The Indians welcomed Cole with a shower of base hits in the third for enough runs to beat the Tigers, 5 to 3, in the finale of the series. Passes and errors accounted for all of the Tigers' runs off Edwards.

Just to prove that time cannot wither nor custom stale, Eddie Collins drove out three hits, one a homer, scored two runs and handled nine chances without a miscue, and altogether made himself conspicuous in the 5-to-1 victory of the White Sox over the Browns.

Home runs by Grimes and Miller in the second started the Cubs on a rampage that ended with a 6-to-3 decision over the Cardinals. Hornsby also wafted one beyond the park limits, but in vain.

Decide Operation Is Necessary to Save Life of Star

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 19.—An operation will be necessary to save the life of Clara Kimball Young, moving picture actress and star of the legitimate stage, who was stricken here during a performance of her play last Tuesday, physicians in attendance at her bedside announced today.

One big league recruit whom the fans will be interested in watching is Earl Combs, the Yankees' champion hold-out. Earl has been real peeved about the settlement of his purchase price, part of which he says he was promised whenever he was sold to the majors. Hence his late arrival at the training camp.

Combs made rather a fine record as a center fielder for the Louisville Colonels last season. He socked the old apple for the attractive average of .380, besides pilfering 42 bases. He led the league with 241 base hits for 359 bases. This gives one the impression that the kid is there.

Earl broke in with the Colonels as a college shortstop and has requested Miller Huggins to give him a trial at his old position. Huggins believes that shortstop will be the first gap on the team he will have to fill, as Scottie's legs are going bad and slowing him up considerably. This will give Combs the opportunity he wants.

A number of scouts were after Earl before the Yanks grabbed him, and they all agree that he is one of the very best in the minors in all respects but one. He has "everything"—but a throwing arm. This fault was enough to taboo an outfielder a few years back but nowadays they have to play so deep on account of the lively ball that there are very few who throw a runner out at the plate. With two such whips as Ruth's and Meusel's alongside of him, this handicap shouldn't bother Combs at all—as Whitney Witt can prove.

If he doesn't make the grade as a big league shortstop, Huggins will carry Combs as an extra outfielder to step in when Whitney Witt starts to slip.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CINCINNATI, April 19.—The Reds and the Pirates staged another great battle here yesterday, the local nosing out Pittsburgh, 3 to 2. Carl Mays and Wiz Kremer did the tossing. Pittsburgh led until the ninth, when hits by Duncan, Hargrave and Bohne scored two runs.

Jakie May, former Vernon Coast league star, pitched the ninth inning for the Reds, and made a good impression.

Plenty of Action on Vernon Card, Promised

Stewart McLean and Tod Morgan, featherweights, and Young Nationalista and Joe Dillon, flyweights, figure to pack Jack Doyle's Vernon arena again Tuesday night, according to the dope at Vernon and in the gymnasiums where the boys are doing their training.

Young Nationalista is being handed a tough boy in Dillon, but the Filipino has never yet been seriously extended in Los Angeles battles and is being made the favorite over the jockey. Dillon has recently returned from New York, where he made several successful starts and knows a lot about the four-round game.

Young Farrell and Felix Villamore will furnish a bantamweight contest in the special event and the balance of the card is:

Jimmy Darrah vs. Mickey Rockson, 158 pounds.

Lefty Cooper vs. Red Williamson, 145 pounds.

Jack Thompson vs. Young Terry, 150 pounds.

Bud Taylor Seeking Bout With Goldstein

NEW YORK, April 19.—Eddie Long, associated with Eddie Kane in the management of Bud Taylor and Sammy Mandell, stated today that he did not intend to leave for the west until he had closed a bout between Taylor and Abe Goldstein, recently installed bantamweight champion. The bout probably will be held some time next month, under the auspices of Tex Rickard.

Slattery to Fight In New York Ring May 12

NEW YORK, April 19.—Jimmy Slattery, the Buffalo youth who gained a decision over Young Stribling, will make his first appearance in a New York ring on May 12, it developed today. Slattery has been signed to meet Jack Lynch of Arizona in the semi-final of the Wills-Madden bout on that date, it was announced today.

Memorial Service for Bill Donovan Sunday

NEW YORK, April 19.—Friends of the late Bill Donovan will gather at New Haven tomorrow to attend the Donovan memorial exercises. An exhibition game between New Haven and the Philadelphia Athletics will be played to raise a memorial fund. Judge Landis plans to attend.

Chalk Up One for Hornsby; First of Season's Homers

ST. LOUIS, April 19.—Rogers Hornsby, National league slugger, knocked his first home run of the season yesterday in the fourth inning of the game with Chicago. There was no one on bases. The drive brought the spectators to their feet. Keen was in the box for Chicago.

Pleasant Time Is Had by All Except Frankie and Eddie

Eddie Anderson won the decision over Frankie Garcia last night in the main event at the Hollywood stadium in one of the roughest fights ever witnessed there. The boys went at it hammer and tongs, and felt so bitter towards each other they exchanged blows after the final bell until parted by Referee George Blake. They left the ring shouting at each other. Anderson had a shade in every round and Garcia was hanging on at the finish.

Young Datto won a class AA elimination bout from Jimmy Hackley. Benny Kilroy won on a foul from Tommy Carter in the third round. Frankie Novey and Bennie Diaz drew. Tommy White got the decision over Sammy Cirimelli. Bobbie Gray won from Harry Foley. Kid Burmay and Young Fraylo drew.

Bermondsey Billy Wells and Sailor Liston will box next Friday.

YOUNGSTERS LOOK CLASSY AT START

Youth Is Not Being Served This Spring; Doing All Serving Itself

NEW YORK, April 19.—For the first few games at least, the young idea has enjoyed quite a vogue in major league baseball.

Wayland Dean, for whom the Giants are alleged to have paid Louisville some $50,000, no less, pitched the Dodgers silly to beat them in ten innings, 3 to 2. The young man was skittish in the opening inning and Johnston and Fournier trifled with his efforts for home runs. Subsequently he placed his knock knees together, both feet on the ground and the Dodgers on their shoulder blades in the next nine innings. Incidentally, he fielded his position perfectly. Dean looked the part of a major leaguer.

Dudley Lee, another $50,000 investment, has taken the Red Sox by storm. He is hitting well and his fielding gives promise of future ranging with Hollocher, Bancroft and other leading shortstops. Lee, thus far, has rather taken the play away from Glenn Wright, illustrious young shortstop of the Pirates. Wright came up from the American association, riding the crest of a great ballyhoo and proved good enough to drive Maranville over to the other side of second base. He rates plenty of future consideration.

Simmons and Strand have given the Athletics a punch they otherwise lacked and the club is doing well in its opening series with the Senators. The latter are pleased to feel that they have bobbed up with something tangible in Prothero at third base and Fisher in the outfield.

SOX ANXIOUS TO DEFEAT SAWTELLE

Kerwin's Crew Play Leaders Here Sunday; Buddies Meet Studebakers

Tomorrow's classic at the San Fernando road ball park between Sawtelle and the White Sox bids fair to be one of the hottest games of the season. Sawtelle hung it on the Sox here during the Triple A season, and Kerwin has been itching to get a crack at Larry Arnold's crew.

The Sawtelle pilot will be without the services of Wally Hood, Babe Twombly and Fred Gunther, and these three leave some hole. But any team that opposes Guy Cooper, former Seattle hurler, is bound to find the going rather rough.

There will be several new faces in the White Sox lineup. Thornton will probably recieve the pitching assignment. The big game is called at 2:30 o'clock.

As a curtain raiser, Bill Bryan's grapejuicers from the American Legion will play the Studebaker outfit from Los Angeles. A flock of talent has been uncovered this week from among the ex-service men of the city, and a much faster team than that appearing in Legion uniform last Sunday will be on hand. Colledge and Gabage will be the battery mates for Glendale. This fuss starts at noon.

Culver City Stadium To Be Best In South

The new Culver City boxing stadium will be one of the most complete and best equipped in the south when the first show is held in the new arena, according to American Legion officials in Culver City.

The opening date has not yet been decided on, according to Tom Jones, matchmaker, but it will be around June 20. Thursday is the day favored, because it will not interfere with either Hollywood or Vernon.

High School Tennis Stars Picked to Win Banner In Central Loop

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Unless all signs fail Glendale High should annex the tennis championship of the Central League this year with ease. Although the tennis season does not open for another month the Glendale net stars, Maxwell, Laird, White, and Osborne, have been in first class shape since the first of the year.

Recently the local quartet has played the El Monte, Franklin and Lincoln High schools and each time has emerged with a 17-0 victory. The Glendale boys entered the Pomona tournament in which ten other high schools were represented and came away with all the silver, Laird copping the singles cup, while he and White won the doubles event. Glendale's only defeat has been at the hands of the Los Angeles High team. The Pioneers beat the Glendale four 12-2 last week but the locals plan to stage a big come-back in a return match some time in the near future.

Bob Laird, the Glendale captain, will play first man during the season. Wayne Maxwell, by the virtue of his recent victory over Lewellen White, will hold down second place, White playing third man, and Lee Osborne fourth. Maxwell and Laird expect to mop up all opposition in first doubles while Osborne and White make a strong combination as a second doubles pair.

The postponement of the annual Ojai tennis tournament on account of the hoof and mouth epidemic has been a great disappointment to Laird and Maxwell who were to be sent north to compete in both the junior singles and doubles. The Glendale team will wind up practice by a match with Hollywood and another with Los Angeles High, both of which will be played some time during the next two or three weeks.

High Lights On Old Home News

By Southland News Service

NEW YORK

NEW YORK—Since lipsticks have been branded as germ carriers by Commissioner Monahan, the flappers are in fear that their powder puffs may be taken from them. According to one young lady a girl may forego rouge and still look pale and interesting, but she says it is impossible to win a man's attention with a shiny nose for him to look at—and laugh at.

SCHENECTADY—It is said that Maude Adams, celebrated actress, who has turned her attention to the sciences, will return here shortly to resume her work in the laboratories she has in the plant of the General Electric company. Although not much is known of her experiments, it is believed that Miss Adams is working on color photography.

NEW YORK—Another exhibition by Martha Farra, Italian strong woman, who lately succeeded in lifting a 4,000-pound elephant is promised by her manager. This seemingly impossible feat was done with ease by the bambina. An offer has been made to put her in the ring with the Terrible Turk or Zybysko, who has been called King of Wrestlers.

INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS—What police believe to have been the most important supply station for "hip-pocket" bootleggers was raided with great success this week. Joe Poston, the proprietor of the blind tiger is said to have furnished over one hundred gallons of grain alcohol every week to his henchmen. A plentiful supply of counterfeit labels was found on the premises.

MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON—A certain motorcycle policeman in this city would like to meet the perpetrator of what he characterizes a mean trick. This speed cop came up behind a flying car and motioned to the driver to stop. The occupant of the car without stopping motioned ahead as though he were after someone and told the officer to get them. The motorcycle went on ahead and when he came back from a fruitless chase could not find his speeding prisoner. The worst part of it was that the man who got away told and the laugh is irritating the cop who is awaiting his chance.

BOSTON—Much displeasure is evinced here as a result of the order barring "moonlight and shadow effect" dancing. It has been the custom in the past to turn out the lights and allow the couples to enjoy the serenity of treading a measure in the moonlight or the dark, but hereafter the lights will blaze as long as a couple remains on the floor, if the orders are enforced.

OHIO

CLEVELAND—The new boulevard stop ordinances put into effect here this week have been a great aid to the handling of traffic according to the traffic squad. The rules were generally observed except at the busiest corners. Within a week the system will be perfected it is said.

CLEVELAND—Firemen here, who are interested in forming a union of the firefighters were reticent when approached as to the possibility of being taken in the American Federation of Labor. The move recalls the Boston police episode of the near past.

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO—The offer of a bonus of $25 for each baby born in a certain apartment house has caused a wave of interest in the suburbs of Chicago. If the plan works to advantage there are several other schemes for attracting families as permanent tenants which will be tried by other landlords.

ARIZONA

SUPERIOR—No further development has been reached in the investigation being carried on to discover the perpetrators of the outrage which killed Mrs. S. E. Hutchison, and wrecked her home. A heavy charge of dynamite placed under her bed was exploded with terrific force. The husband, who was out of the house at the time, has had business difficulties in the past and it is believed that a close investigation of those with whom he has had dealings may throw some light on the crime.

GLOBE—Being the eastern gateway to the Apache Trail celebrated scenic feature of the Southern Pacific system, this town has become better known in the last five years than in the fifty that preceded the opening of the route. Hitherto only interesting to mining men, it is now a Mecca for tourists.

NEW MEXICO

ALBUQUERQUE—L. C. Petree, chief deputy of New Mexico, has declared open warfare on crows and urges that they be killed whenever possible as they are destructive to insect eating birds and dangerous to young calves and lambs. Boys of this neighborhood are holding competitions with airguns and slingshots for the title of "Big Chief Crow Killer."

ROSWELL—District Attorney Wyatt is asking that the maximum sentence of death be passed on the alleged murderers of Fred Halsey wealthy and prominent cattleman of Eddy county. The peculiar feature of the case is that four people are charged with the crime and one of them is the wife of the murdered man.

OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY—The Rev. C. E. Myrick of the Immanuel Baptist Church is against pussyfooters and mealy mouthed reformers. His wish is that every minister could be put in hell for just twenty-four hours so that they might preach the gospel of salvation with a deeper understanding.

TULSA—Since John H. Miller promulgated the real estate licensing law, 1600 permits have been issued which local authorities believe puts Oklahoma almost in the Southern California class. Applications are coming in at the rate of hundreds every week. Each dealer in land must pay a fine of from $25 to $500 if he should fail to be licensed by May 1st.

OREGON

PORTLAND—This week the Chamber of Commerce here paid a rich and heartfelt tribute to the old Oregon Trail, when they unveiled a huge trail marker which is the work of the professor of sculpture at the University of Oregon, Avard Fairbanks. Portland realizes that the trail is not here alone but that it belongs to the entire west, and looks to see the modern west possible.

SALEM—C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner is being asked by men of La Grande, to take steps to prevent a lumber company of Eastern Oregon from importing negro labor. It is said that the negroes are employed in preference to whites, who need work, because of their low wage scale.

WASHINGTON

SEATTLE—Since Sergeant L. P. Larsen has been appointed bathing suit inspector on the Alki beach because he is forty-nine years old and has reached the age of discretion, there has been a rush of men of that age to be appointed his assistants. The job entails passing on all the female beauties who wear daring and late style "bathies."

POETRY CARRIES EASTER MESSAGE

Verses by J. C. Popple Sound Note of Reverence at Solemn Season

Glendale will be awake at dawn to greet Easter day, and in anticipation of that sunrise service an Easter poem by J. C. Popple of 1224 South Central avenue, is most fitting.

The poem, which is entitled "I Am Risen," is herewith printed:

FAIR EASTER MORN!
Thy message to the world doth bring.
Its joys!
The risen one to tell;
That glorious right to all mankind.
Out of the sacred past, thy words be felt,
To those who seek.
Arise! arise! the kingdom is at hand,
Who would but know within his soul,
Created to fulfill God's mission here at hand.
Embedded within thy breast the secret lies,
Dormant to aspire to glories yet untold
To thee, awake thy inner self.
And let thy risen Lord just enter in,
The Comforter.
Behold the truth! and it shall set thee free.
Journey on thy path in light,
And know thy destiny.
Creator of the created thou art.
Thy power is all in all.
So walk ahead and reach that goal;
Thy aspirations bring.
Conform unto the law that guides all things,
And manifest thy life,
In love to all mankind.
Show on thy countenance the beam,
That travels far beyond thy reach to know;
Its luster on another soul.
And they will know,
Thou hast but risen on this Easter Morn.
Then too, thy radiance shall glow,
To penetrate the darkest spot;
And lighten up the path,
To those who falter by the way.
Stretch forth thy hand to a fallen brother,
He will know thy presence, and come forth;
And seek with Thee that spark of light that guides.
Oh! let thy voice ring forth the joy,
That thou hast found,
Until all space shall vibrate within its presence.
Then love shall dawn within the hearts of all.
And thou wilt know that thou art risen.

Fresno to Fumigate, Bathe Weary Willies

FRESNO, April 19.—Hoboes entering Fresno county will be given a bath and a thorough fumigating in a further effort to prevent the spread of the hoof and mouth disease if plans of the county board of supervisors materialize. It has been pointed out that all automobiles crossing the boundaries are compelled to drive through disinfecting tanks and the hoboes, which are more likely carriers, should not be made exceptions.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—The Julian Petroleum company has been granted permission by the state corporation department to sell $5,000,000 worth of stock. The stock will be sold in units of two shares of preferred stock of par value of $50 and one and one-half shares of common stock, no par value, at $100 a unit.

Advance in Prices?

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—That an advance in California prices is coming shortly is indicated by the refusal of one of the big companies to make a contract for fuel oil, being willing only to make spot sales, according to financial leaders here. The oil situation is unusually strong and producers are finding it difficult to keep up with the market that has developed for California oil this year.
California is the determining factor in oil generally. The big pools in the Los Angeles basis that were responsible for the over production last year are steadily declining in output. Santa Fe Springs is now producing 80,000 barrels a day compared with a high point of 340,000 barrels a day last September. This field produced 79,781,000 barrels of oil in 1923. Long Beach has produced more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil 68,610,000 of which were produced in 1923. Huntington Beach has produced more than 51,800,000 barrels of which 34,355,000 barrels were produced last year.
With the decline which has already taken place in this field, it is going to be a difficult matter for oil producers to offset the low, local oil men say.

Ingot production in the steel industry last week declined 4 per cent with the average at 82 per cent, against about 86 per cent the preceding week and 88 per cent in the week before that. Largest drop of 6 per cent is reported for independents, while United States Steel Corporation is down slightly more than 2 per cent. High record was 91½ per cent, established around the middle of last month.

Rise in Price

Export kerosene has been reduced half cent a gallon. New price for standard white is 6.50c a gallon in bulk, 13.50c a gallon in barrels and 16.90c a gallon in cases, it was announced last night.

The New York stock exchange board of governors has admitted to the trading list the $29,545,650 common stock of the General Petroleum Corporation of California of $25 par value. The stock is fully paid, but is assessable, and stockholders' liability attaches, as provided by California's laws. In its statement to the exchange, the company reported net profits of $5,921,397 after reserves for depreciation and depletion and taxes, for the year ended June 20, 1923, against $2,757,692 in 1922. The company on January 1, 1924, was producing 47,930 barrels of oil a day. The estimated potential production for 1924 is 13,949,050 barrels.

Sales of passenger automobiles in Southern California during the month of March totalled 10,211, according to statistics announced today. This is a substantial gain over former similar periods.

Investigate Charges At Los Angeles Port

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—The Harbor Board called off the meeting which was to have been in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon. However, it was learned that G. M. Southwick, superintendent of the municipal terminal railroad, is making a study of freight rates, and Los Angeles switching charges as compared with Pacific Coast and gulf ports. The purpose of this is to show that Los Angeles harbor should have cheaper rates, and if possible, to establish a reasonable switching charge to any point in the harbor. For instance, San Francisco has a $3.50 charge while Los Angeles harbor has a minimum switching charge of $7.50 a car from San Pedro to Wilmington, and an equal charge from Wilmington to East San Pedro.

DIGNITARIES OF SCIOT CIRCLES ATTEND SMOKER

Hundreds Present at Affair Of Glendale Pyramid At Club Rooms

Distinguished by the presence of several of the highest ranking dignitaries in Sciot circles of Southern California, and featured by a program that included masterful addresses as well as entertainment of the highest calibre, the smoker given by Glendale Pyramid No. 39, A. E. O. Sciots at their temple in Odd Fellows' hall last night was conceded to be the crowning event in the local pyramid's existence. Every seat in the temple was occupied, and fully one hundred members and visitors stood in the aisles and the halls during the program. It was estimated that between six hundred and seven hundred were present.
Harry M. Bennett, Toparch of the local pyramid, presided. Many of the visitors holding high office came unannounced and mingled with their brothers during the evening without official recognition. Among those introduced were Supreme Neokori John De Moulin of Los Angeles Pyramid No. 30; Senator H. S. G. McCartney, deputy district attorney; Judge Ira F. Thompson of the Superior court; Ralph Logston, Toparch of San Bernardino Pyramid No. 38; Toparch Roach of Santa Ana Pyramid No. 41; and Sciot Charlie Wolfe, Worshipful Master of Glendle lodge No. 554, F. & A. M.

Thompson Speaks

Judge Thompson, whose appearance was in response to a request of long standing, spoke fittingly on what the Pyramid has done for the Sciot. He stated that a Sciot would never be able to repay the Pyramid for the benefits derived. He cautioned the members, however, that insofar as their efforts for the Pyramid were increased so would their reward increase. Judge Thompson received an ovation from those present at the conclusion of his speech.
Senator McCartney also spoke briefly on the order and the work it was accomplishing in Southern California. He extended an invitation to the members of the local Pyramid to meet with the Los Angeles Pyramid on May 3, when a ceremonial will be held in the horse show arena at the Ambassador hotel. One thousand candidates will take the work at this time.
A feature of the ceremonial will be the exemplification of the full ritualistic work by the Los Angeles Pyramid. This event is eagerly looked forward to by all Sciots in this part of the country.

Tells of Show

Sciots G. O. Russell, manager, and William Osterman, director of the famous Glendale Sciots band, were introduced, and made short talks regarding the work of the band, and called the attention of the members to the show to be staged by the band at the Broadway High school auditorium on the nights of May 1 and 2, the proceeds of which will help send the band to the state convention at Redding this year, and provide needed equipment.
Captain D. Ripley Jackson in a short speech stated the enthusiasm displayed was so contagious that he wanted to pledge his attendance at all future meetings of the local pyramid. He introduced his son, who, he stated, would follow in the footsteps of his father in Masonic work, if possible.

Meet April 30

Charlie Wolfe, master of Glendale Lodge No. 544, invited all Sciots to attend the meeting of No. 554 on April 30. This will be known as "Sciots' Night," and he promised real entertainment. Sciot "Bill" Moody will be in charge of the work.
C. Milton Coye, scribe of the local pyramid, cast the only cloud over the evening when he reminded the members of the necessity of paying their dus to insure more evenings devoted to smokers. He had quite a time getting his message across, but finally managed to make it. Dr. Warren Z Newton, Mobib of the local pyramid, spoke briefly on Sciotism.

Members Sing

K. A. Louis, chairman of the entertainment committee, then took charge and introduced the Orpheus Four of Los Angeles. They were repeatedly recalled, and not content with the regular entertainment, one hundred of the Sciots impressed the piano player into service and sang until 1 o'clock.
Granary Keeper Paul Maxwell, with the assistance of William L. Finkbiner, a recent arrival from Pittsburg and proprietor of the Central Quality Inn at 131 South Central avenue, wound up the evening with a lunch that for quality and service left nothing to be desired.
The smoker was undoubtedly the finest affair ever attempted by the local pyramid, and will go a long way in incre

FINAL TRIBUTES FOR MRS. GIBSON

Beloved Teacher Mourned by Many Friends as Last Rites Are Held

In the beauty of the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park, and amid quantities of beautiful Eastertime flowers, final tribute was paid this morning to Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, for sixteen years head of the music department of the Glendale Union High school, well known Glendale resident and club woman and prominent musician, instructor and writer on musical subjects, who died suddenly Thursday at her home at 1321 North Maryland avenue.

Fellow faculty members, club associates, pupils, citizens and friends made up the sorrowing company that completely filled the Little Church and occupied a large space before the church door.

Many Mourn Loss

There were those who had worked side by side Mrs. Gibson for many years in school and club work, sharing the grief of pupils of the past and present at the high school, as well as countless neighbors and friends, all gathered to pay tribute to one who was beloved and honored by all who knew her.

Mrs. M. Edna Whitten, Christian Science reader, conducted the Christian Science service and two of the church songs were sung by a contralto soloist.

Following the services Mrs. Gibson's body was creamated. The Kiefer & Eyerick Undertaking company was in charge.

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Lillian M. Meyer, Venice, claims her husband gave valuable concessions to concession girls on the Venice pier; promised to give her a $5,000 insurance policy and half of his property before they were wed and then failed to do it, in a divorce suit against Albert N. Meyer. His holdings on the Venice pier are worth more than $25,000, she says.
